The Pittsburgh Gazette

THE NOMINATION of our gifted citizen, Judge Williams, for a seat on the Supreme bench, was ratified last night by a large and enthusiastic meeting in City Hall. In our local columns will be found a full report of the proceedings. The biographical sketch of our candidate, from the pen of our worthy friend, C. B. M. Smith, Esq., will be read with much interest, and admirably serve as a campaign document. Coming from a gentleman who occupies so high a position at the Allegheny County bar, the able tribute to Judge Williams' merits and abilities will be fully appreciated.

Thus the campaign has been brilliantly opened by the Republicans of Allegheny County, and the work has commenced. Our delegates at Williamsport promised, should Mr. Williams be nominated, to secure for him an overwhelming majority West of the mountains, such an one as would render his election certain, no matter what might betide the party in the East. Mr. Williams was nominated, and the spirit of the meeting last evening gave ample assurance that the pledge will be fully redeemed.

WE ACKNOWLEDGE the pleasure of having received a call, yesterday, from Mr. S. M. Pettingill, of the world-known New York Advertising Agency of S. M. Pettingill & Co. He visited our city on a brief business trip and returned home last evening. In connection with our personal notice of a visit from the senior member of that firm, we will be permitted to add our testimony to the high character which the agency has ever enjoyed. Managing their business on a careful system, upright and fair dealing in all matters, Pettingill & Co. have won the confidence of all advertisers and of the newspaper fraternity of America. During the past eighteen years, through their agency, the GAZETTE has received advertisements from all parts of the country, and out of business contracts amounting in the aggregate to thousands of dollars, never experienced the slightest trouble arising from misunderstanding, or resulting from careless advertising. We hope Pettingill & Co. may long continue to prosper and merit the esteem, confidence and respect which they now enjoy throughout the country.

UNDER pretence of avenging the death of the unfortunate Emperor of Mexico, Maximilian, formidable organizations of filibusters are being formed throughout the United States to invade Mexico. Recent intelligence develops the fact that the organization in the Southern States is numerically strong, and is even now under discipline, awaiting marching orders. The cry of "on to Mexico" means more than the outside world is aware, and the Liberal army may have considerable trouble in coping with the host of daring filibusters about to sweep down upon them. The expeditionists await pecuniary assistance from the leading Powers of Europe, which, doubtless, will be forthcoming, as this appears to be the most feasible method of punishing the Liberals for their treatment of Maximilian. The filibusters are said to be under the command of a noted ex-rebel general, and are to move secretly to Texas, from thence to make their military movement on Mexico.

THE Post still protests that republican journals shall not criticise the judicial opinion delivered by Mr. SHARSWOOD, touching the constitutionality of legal tender notes. It says:

> "We think it justifiable to charge that the attempt of some Radical editors to traduce the character of Judge Sharswood, and to raise up a personal prejudice among the people is unworthy of honorable men."

Now, will the Post tell us what it thinks of democratic criticism of Mr. WILLIAMS, and particularly of this sample?

> "He has no legal reputation—in fact, he is below mediocrity. There is not a bar in the State but has his equals as a jurist, and most of them scores of superiors in the legal profession. He is simply a higgling, calculating, close-fisted, fanatical, curly-headed, sour-faced adventurer from Yankee land, admirably qualified in every respect to suit the disunionists, who would dissever the Union, destroy every vestige of civil government, and erect a military despotism."

THE Cincinnati people are in trouble with the Nicholson pavement. It does not answer expectations. Besides, the contractors are accused of not half doing their work, and the Street Commissioner is charged with being in collusion with the contractors to swindle the taxpayers.

THE President is disposed to make another investment in real estate for the benefit of the nation. He is said to be negotiating a treaty whereby the British possessions on the Pacific coast will be taken in settlement of the Alabama claims.

GEN. SHERIDAN is ready for vigorous measures in Texas so soon as the supplementary reconstruction bill shall be passed over the President's veto. He has not long to wait.

JACOB I. YOUNG, one of the early settlers of Potter county, died at his residence, near Coudersport, a few days ago. He had attained a ripe old age.

THE ALLEGED NOSE PULLING.

The Post says Mr. Jones did not pull Mr. Field's nose nor touch him in any way, but was pushed aside by Field with an umbrella. The Post adds the feeling of Mr. Jones grew out of a statement made some days since, at a meeting of the assembled press, when in reply to complaints of the high charges of the cable, and the burden imposed by it upon the press, Mr. Field, who has constantly advocated reducing the tariff from one-half to one-quarter the present rate, said the tax could not be so very heavy, since from the first of April the whole associated press of the country had not taken one hundred words a day. This Mr. Jones denied and several times declared to be false, even when furnished with the exact figures, showing that the number of words was a trifle less than eighty-four a day.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, July 16, 1867.

MR. STEVENS' RECONSTRUCTION MEASURE.

The bill introduced to-day by Mr. Stevens to enable the inhabitants of the rebel States, conquered by the United States, to form State governments, declares that all governments and pretended governments in the Southern territory are null and void, and of no effect, other than that which they shall derive from the action of Congress; the existing corporations and officers, existing defacto for local purposes, to be continued until Congress, or those authorized by Congress, shall determine their existence with a proper constitution; and until admitted to the United States, each district as now existing shall be governed by three commissioners, civilians, chosen by joint action of Congress. The present registration to be continued with a view to the foundation of a State Constitution, which must be submitted to the approval of Congress. The bill declares the admission of new States into the Union, and reconstruction of old ones, is the sole duty and work of Congress, and neither the President nor any head of departments, nor the judiciary, nor the military, have any right to interfere in such matters, unless required by Congress. The opinion of the Attorney General on any point connected with the admission of new States, or the reconstruction of destroyed ones, is unauthorized, and ought not to be obtruded upon the government.

SENATOR WILSON ON CONFISCATION.

Senator Wilson has written to a prominent Virginian, who inquired what action was necessary on the part of the people to avert confiscation, that nothing can bring confiscation upon the people of the rebel States but the persistent folly and madness of the masses of their people. He suggests that the sure way for people to avoid confiscation, to remove disabilities, restore order, peace, prosperity and happiness, is to let them strive to conquer the prejudices, hates and passions engendered by their rebellion. Let them accept the results of the nation's victory, the unity of the States, perpetuity of the Republic, the emancipation, enfranchisement and citizenship of their bondmen, their equality of rights and privileges. Let them establish schools for the education of both races, encourage freedmen to be thrifty and temperate, to get homesteads, and engage in industries in varied forms. Let them develop the mighty resources of the sunny South, and cherish the spirit of fraternity and love."

In Extraordinary Session.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]
WASHINGTON, July 16, 1867.

SENATE.

COLORED MEN TO HOLD OFFICE.

Mr. SUMNER introduced a bill amending the charter of Washington City, so as to allow colored persons to hold office.

Mr. BUCKALEW objected to the present consideration of the bill, and it goes over.

RELIEF OF DESERTERS.

Mr. WILSON, from the Military Committee, reported a substitute for the House bill for the relief of certain soldiers and sailors charged with desertion. The substitute declares that no soldier or sailor shall be held to be a deserter who faithfully served until after April 19th, and then went home without leave from the proper authority; but nothing herein contained shall operate as a remission of any forfeiture of bounty, back pay or penalty incurred by desertion.

Mr. HENDRICKS moved to amend by inserting a section to repeal so much of the act of March, 1865, as disfranchises deserters and disqualifies them from holding office.

After debate, participated in by Messrs. HENDRICKS, BUCKALEW, CAMERON, WILSON and EDMUNDS, the amendment was disagreed to—ayes 7; nays, 29—Messrs. Buckalew, Davis, Hendricks, Johnson, Norton, Patterson and Van Winkle in the affirmative.

The bill as reported was then passed and goes back to the House for concurrence.

On motion of Mr. ANTHONY, two thousand copies of the recent decision of Chief Justice Chase, at Raleigh, N. C., were ordered to be printed for the use of the Senate.

The Senate went into Executive session.

The doors were re-opened at 2:50.

On motion of Mr. WILSON, the President and Secretary of War were directed to be asked if any legislation was necessary to expedite the payment of bounties under the act of last Congress.

Mr. HENDERSON called up the bill to establish peace with certain Indian tribes. It provides for a Commission of Generals Sherman, Hancock, John E. Smith, Augur and others to treat with the Indians with a view to their removal to a reservation to be selected for them, north of Nebraska and south of Kansas, and appropriate $40,000 to carry the project into effect.

After debate, Mr. MORRILL moved to amend the bill so that the Commissioners shall examine the district instead of selecting it. Adopted.

Mr. RAMSEY suggested that the Commissioners be allowed to examine any territory west of the Missouri river.

Mr. MORRILL moved to amend by providing that when the territory is selected and approved by Congress, it shall be secured to the Indians as permanent homes, subject only to the jurisdiction of the United States.

Mr. HOWARD protested against any such motion.

On motion, the boundaries of the territory to be examined were described as north of Nebraska, west of the Missouri river, east of the traveled routes of Montana Territory, and south of the forty-fifth degree of north latitude.

Adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TAXATION OF BONDS.

Mr. KELLEY offered a resolution declaring that in the opinion of Congress no further issue of bonds of the United States ought to be made for any purpose not already provided for, except on the distinct condition they shall be subject to taxation for State, county and municipal expenses. Mr. ROBINSON moved to suspend the rules that he might offer a resolution for the appointment of a Select Committee to examine into the working of the detective system of the Internal Revenue Department.

The House refused to suspend the rules—ayes twenty-five, nays not counted.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Wisconsin, asked leave to introduce a joint resolution declaring the Rock Island Bridge to be the bridge from the City of Davenport to the City of Rock Island, and made an explanation of the object. He said it was only explanatory of the law and for the purpose of removing all ambiguity about it.

Mr. ALLISON objected.

Mr. WASHBURN moved a suspension of the rules. Lost.

Mr. ELDRIDGE moved the House to-day adjourn to Thursday.

The SPEAKER informed the House it was understood the President did not expect to be able to communicate to the House on the subject of reconstruction until Thursday, and the motion was rejected—48 against 69.

Mr. BRIGGS offered a preamble and resolution, reciting that the Washington Monument Association had been in existence twenty years, without having accomplished anything beyond the partial erection of a square column on the public grounds; that large sums of money had been collected and collections are still continued in the Patent and other public buildings; and directing the Secretary of the Interior to inform the House what becomes of the money collected; also as to the present condition of the Association, &c. Adopted.

Mr. HOLMAN asked leave to offer a resolution instructing the Judiciary Committee to enquire whether any further legislation was necessary to define and limit the jurisdiction of the Court of Claims.

Mr. WOODBRIDGE objected.

Adjourned till to-morrow.

FROM MEXICO.

Further Particulars of the Death of Maximilian and His Associates.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 16.—A Galveston, Texas, special says: Additional particulars of the execution of Maximilian have been received. When leaving the convent, Maximilian exclaimed, "What beautiful, clear heavens. It is such as I desired for the hour of death." All three were dressed with scrupulous care. The officer of the firing party begged Maximilian's forgiveness, saying he did not approve of the execution, but must obey orders. Maximilian replied, "A soldier must always comply with his orders. I thank you with all my heart for your kind sentiments, but expect that you will comply with the orders." Maximilian gave Miramon the centre as his post. Mejia's wife ran distractedly through the street just before the execution, carrying a new born babe. Juarez refused to deliver up Maximilian's body, and said it must be made the subject of a treaty. There is great antipathy towards Americans because they asked Maximilian's life. Princess Salm-Salm devised means for the escape of the Emperor, but was betrayed by an officer to whom she had confided the secret, who took a bribe of twenty-five thousand dollars in diamonds. She was ordered to leave Queretaro with her attendants.

A fight is probable between Cortina and Berriozabal. Both are recruiting. Cortina has been ordered to occupy the Rio Grande with an army of fifteen thousand men. The United States is hated because of the interference in behalf of Maximilian.

SANDWICH ISLANDS AND CHINA.

The Coffee Crop—Scriptures in the Hawaiian Language—Terrible Pestilence in China.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Honolulu advices to June 23d, states that the coffee crop is promising, the blight, formerly so destructive, having disappeared. The Advertiser estimates the crop this season at 25,000 pounds at Honolulu. The same journal thinks that region ought to produce millions of pounds this year.

The Gazette chronicles the fact that the commentary of the Gospel of Mathew in the Haiwaian language is about to be published, the first work of the kind attempted. The Haiwaian American residents were preparing for a Fourth of July celebration, which promised to be general. At Honolulu salutes were to be fired by the Haiwaian artillery, orations delivered, &c.

The steamer Ajax, from Liverpool, arrived at Hong Kong May 11th, and brought intelligence of a fearful pestilence at Maneytus. It was at first confined to the natives, and supposed to originate in unwholesome food. When the Ajax left the people were dying at the rate of two hundred a day. The state of affairs in the island was dreadful. People were lying in the streets dead and dying and nearly every other house was closed and the hospital accommodations insufficient, miserable and neglected. Huts were erected for temporary hospitals, into which the sick went to die. Quinine was seventy-five dollars an ounce. Some shipping was effected. The mortality among the soldiers was great and a complete panic prevailed among the people.

FOUR O'CLOCK, A. M.

THE SURRATT TRIAL.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]
WASHINGTON, July 16, 1867.

David H. Bates, recalled, recognized the signature of John Harrison on the register of the Webster House, Canandaigua, as that of Surratt.

J. B. Tinsley identified the register book of the Spottswood House, Richmond. A man named Harry Sherman came there March 29th, 1865.

D. H. Bates recalled and testified that he believed the signature of Harry Sherman to be that of John Surratt.

Henry Hall Braydon testified that he was employed at Richmond in March and April, 1865; was there March 29, 1865; saw prisoner there that day; I knew who he was, and that he passed under the name of Harry Sherman.

Question—State if you went with prisoner to the office of Mr. Benjamin that day.

Mr. Pierrepont objected.

The objection was sustained by the Court, as the matter was not relevant in the case. Witness was not allowed to state what Surratt did there, and how engaged, &c.

Mr. Bradley excepted to the ruling of Court.

Witness saw Surratt at Richmond last on the 31st of March.

Francis Barke sworn—In 1865 was a coachman to the President; on the night of the assassination, when at the theatre, witness was on the carriage box all the time, excepting about five minutes, when a friend asked him to take a glass of ale; did not notice persons peeping into the carriage; saw no person sitting around the room.

H. H. Bragdon recalled.

Mr. Bradley said he proposed to ask witness whether he did not see Mr. Benjamin pay Surratt ten $20 gold pieces, and whether he knew for what purpose the money was paid.

Objected to and objection sustained.

Mr. Merrick said he now proposed to overthrow the evidence of Dr. McMillan, in affidavit before the U. S. Consul at Liverpool, about the confessions of Surratt. Ruled out.

Stephen P. Cameron sworn—Witness was in the Confederate service during the war; went to Europe in company with Dr. McMillan on the steamship Nova Scotian, from Quebec. Dr. McM. stated Surratt told him he was in Elmira on the 14th of April, 1865, and only learned there, for the first time, that the President had been assassinated. He stated very distinctly that it was there he had heard first of the assassination, and immediately turned his face towards Canada. The Dr. asked witness if he did not think he (Dr. McMillan) was compromising himself by extending assistance to Surratt; he said Surratt had told him the entire plan for the abduction was laid by Booth, who had expended from four to six thousand dollars on it; he said he had never repeated his conversation with Surratt to any person but witness. Witness was cross-examined at length, but nothing additional bearing on the case was elicited.

Lewis J. Carlond was recalled and stated that he knew Weichman and took a walk with him in the summer of 1865, and called on Mr. Ropey; during the walk Weichman stated that he was troubled about the way he had testified before the Military Commission, and wanted witness to go with him to St. Aloysius to make a confession. Witness told him that he had better go to a magistrate and make his statement; he replied he would if he dared, but was afraid he would be charged with perjury. He said if he had been permitted to do as he desired in testifying, it would have been different with Mrs. Surratt; that a statement had been prepared for him, which he was told to swear to, or in case of refusal, he was threatened with complicity with the conspiracy; he said a man told him he had been talking in his sleep, and he (the man) had written out a statement of what he (Weichman) had said, and that he must swear to it.

James Gifford recalled—Witness was in Carroll Prison with Weichman; witness heard an officer tell him if he did not swear to more than he had told he would be hung. James Maddox was present at the time.

Mr. Pierrepont asked the Court to strike out the last answer, as it did not relate to the trial and was not contradictory to anything Weichman had said.

The Court ordered it stricken out, and Mr. Bradley noted an exception.

Witness resumed—Weichman did not tell witness Mr. Bingham said to him, if he did'nt testify to more than he he had told, he would be treated as one of the conspirators; the officer told Weichman so in the presence of witness.

The Court ruled the question out, and an exception was noted.

Witness resuming, said he never had any conversation with Weichman about the matter after the officer said to him what the witness just testified.

John M. Hewes, sworn—Was in this city in April, 1865, playing at Ford's theatre; saw Booth on the 14th day of April; he was on horseback; it was at one of the triangular squares; conversed with him five minutes; he was leaning over from the horse to speak; he shook hands nervously; he placed a sealed paper in witness' hands; witness placed it in his pocket; witness saw it afterwards in witness' room after the shot was fired; witness read and burned it; it was in Booth's hand writing.

Question—What were the contents of that letter and by whom signed.

Mr. Pierrepont—I object to that and don't desire to discuss such a proposition.

Mr. Bradley said it was a serious matter, and asked the Court to indulge counsel to discuss it the remainder of the evening. It was expected to show that the contents of the letter was an agreement between four conspirators, neither of whom are on trial here. He didn't know whether the matter ever reached the ears of the Court that this witness had been examined before the Judiciary Committee, and that that was how the defense had found the matter out.

The Court said he had studiously avoided hearing and reading anything concerning the matter presuming he might possibly have to try some case connected with the conspiracy; he did not think the counsel would hold so meanly of him as to approach him with any thing of the kind beforehand.

Mr. Bradley said he did not think it would be wrong for the Court to see or read the contents of the letter and form an opinion as to its admissability, but thought it was a grave matter, as showing who were the original plotters, who had entered into an agreement and signed it, directly touching the innocence of the prisoner.

Without further discussion, Court took a recess till to-morrow.

Important Habeas Corpus Decision—Negro Boy Cruelly Beaten.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, July 16.—Hon. Judge Goodloe has rendered an important decision at Lexington, Kentucky, on a case of habeas corpus. James A. Johnson, for cruelly beating a negro boy, was arrested by the Freedmen's Bureau. A writ was sued out and the body demanded by the civil authorities, which the military declined to deliver up. The case went into Court, Gen. John B. Huston appearing for the prisoner, and Gen J. S. Brisbin for the Bureau. The Judge decided that the action of the Bureau was legal, and that the writ of habeas corpus could not take the prisoner out of the hands of the Government.

THE CAMPAIGN OPENED.

Grand Mass Meeting of the Republicans of Allegheny County—The Nomination of Judge Williams Enthusiastically Ratified—The Speeches—Biographical Sketch of our Candidate, &c., &c.

Pursuant to announcement, there assembled last evening in City Hall, a large and enthusiastic meeting of the loyal Republicans of Allegheny county. Although the evening was extremely warm, the masses turned out in their full might, and the commodious City Hall was completely crowded. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed, and the campaign was opened as brilliantly as any which has ever foreshadowed a glorious political victory to the Republican party.

ORGANIZATION.

Hon, P. C. Shannon took the floor and stated that the committee on organization had thought it highly prudent to call on the Hon. Moses Hampton to preside, because of his intimate acquaintance and full knowledge of the character and qualifications of our candidate, Mr Williams. That gentleman, however, had respectfully declined the honor of presiding, as the following correspondence will show:

PITTSBURGH, Monday, July 15, 1867.

DEAR SIR:—The undersigned, appointed a Committee of Organization, have unanimously selected you to preside over the Mass Meeting of citizens of the County of Allegheny, publicly announced by the Committee of Arrangements to be held to-morrow evening, at City Hall, for the purpose of ratifying the nomination, by the Union Republican State Convention, of the Hon. Henry W. Williams, L. L. D., of this county, for Judge of the Supreme Court.

Apart from your high position and the estimation in which you are so deservedly held in this community, we think it will be particularly fitting that you should preside over this meeting; because you can the most knowingly of all of us testify to the capability, learning and integrity of Judge Williams, associated, as he has been with you, for fourteen years, on the bench of our District Court.

Respectfully and most cordially desiring your acceptance of the position, we are, dear sir, very truly, your friends and obedient servants,

P. C. SHANNON,
F. H. COLLIER,
G. FINLEY,
F. TAUDTE,
M. W. ACHESON.

VAN NATTA, WILKINS TOWNSHIP, July 15, 1867.

GENTLEMEN: Your note of this date, inviting me to preside over the Mass Meeting of citizens of the county of Allegheny, to be held on to-morrow evening at the City Hall, for the purpose of ratifying the nomination by the Union Republican State Convention of Hon. Henry W. Williams, L. L. D., of this county, for the office of Judge of the Supreme Bench, is just received.

My compliance with your request is particularly urged, on the ground that my long and intimate relations with Judge Williams will enable me to testify more fully than others as to his capability, learning and integrity.

While acknowledging most cordially the honor your invitation confers, couched as it is in terms so kind and complimentary, I feel constrained nevertheless to deny myself the pleasure which, under the circumstances, a compliance would afford me.

When I accepted a seat on the bench, I resolved that so long as I might occupy that position, I would not mingle in party strifes, nor take any active part in political meetings. This rule has been rigidly observed ever since, even when the very existence of our beloved country was threatened by a most formidable and wicked rebellion. And now, when the country is saved, peace restored, and the success of your candidate certain, the propriety of a strict adherence to this rule must be apparent to all.

It will be no infringement of this rule, however, to express my opinion of the qualifications of my brother Williams to discharge the important duties of the high and responsible office for which he has been nominated.

I have known him for a period of over twenty-eight years. I became acquainted with him before he commenced the study of law, and have known him ever since. I practiced with him from the time he was admitted to the bar, in 1841, until he went on the Bench, in 1851; and practiced before him until 1853, when, as you know, I was chosen to a seat on the same Bench with him. We have occupied the position by re-election from that time to this. These facts are deemed amply sufficient to warrant me in speaking with perfect confidence as to his character, talents, legal learning and integrity.

His moral character is pure and unsullied, so much so, that even the breath of slander has never breathed upon it. He possesses talents of a high order, such as fit him peculiarly to comprehend and determine those difficult and complicated questions of law which are usually brought before Courts of last resort, for final adjudication. His legal learning is so varied and extensive, that by the aid of a most extraordinary memory, both of principles and cases, he is enabled to form a correct judgment in almost every question brought before him. His integrity is so stern and unbending that no one who knows him ever doubted it. I take great pleasure in saying that I never knew a man, either in public or private life, in whose perfect honesty and truthfulness I have more implicit confidence.

And now, in conclusion, gentlemen, permit me to say, that while I regret exceedingly to lose the assistance of so valuable a colaborer on the Bench of the District Court, I heartily congratulate the public on the certainty of the elevation to the Supreme Bench of the State of one so eminently qualified to discharge the duties of that important office.

I am, gentlemen,
Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
M. HAMPTON.

To Hon. P. C. Shannon, Gen. F. H. Collier, George Findley, Esq., and other members of the Committee.

At the conclusion of the reading of the letter, Judge Shannon nominated the following officers, who were unanimously elected:

On taking the chair Mr. Parke stated that after a few words for and against himself, he would introduce more able and eloquent gentlemen. He felt that the meeting could not have chosen any person more zealous to promote the interests of the party than himself, yet many persons were present far more competent for discharging the duties of the office to which he was chosen. He humbly acknowledged the honor conferred upon him, and now had the pleasure of introducing to the audience who, during the few years past, and throughout the period occupied by the great rebellion just closed, had developed great zeal and earnestness in the cause of the Union Republican party.

C. B. M. SMITH, ESQ.,

Mr. Smith was received with rapturous applause, and proceeded to deliver the following biographical sketch of our worthy candidate. He said:

I come here to-night, my fellow-citizens, to perform what is to me a pleasant duty—to join with you in giving our adherence to the platform of principles adopted by the great Union Republican party of this State at the Convention lately held in Williamsport, and in manifesting our satisfaction and pleasure in the nomination by that Convention of our fellow-citizen, Hon. Henry W. Williams, as a candidate for election to the highest judicial position of this Commonwealth.

While I shall express my cordial approval of the principles enunciated in that wise, moderate and patriotic creed of political faith, which breathes, in every line, a love for freedom and human rights, mixed with no demand for vengeance, by saying that I would hardly add to, or detract, one word therefrom, I shall leave its discussion to these able gentlemen who may follow, and devote the brief time allotted me upon this occasion in speaking of the personal, moral, political and judicial character of our candidate; and it is, perhaps, fitting that I should do this, as I have known Judge Williams longer, and more intimately, than any other person in this house.

My acquaintance with him commenced in College in 1833 as class mate, and since that time I have studied with him, taught with him, and practiced in my profession with and under him. I have known him as student, as teacher, as lawyer and as Judge, and what is more, during all that time, I have known him as an intimate, personal friend. I have known him more thoroughly than I have ever known any other living man, not excepting my own brother, and I say here to-night, in presence of this large audience, that, even were I so disposed, I could truthfully speak no ill of him.

Judge Williams is of the good old revolutionary Whig stock, which achieved our national independence in 1776, and from his ancestors he has inherited a sturdy love of liberty, independence, freedom and national union, which has been strengthened by the great events of these later times. He was born in the beautiful valley of the Connecticut—a State which has given birth to such men as Henry Baldwin, Walter Forward, Garrick Mallory and William Strong—and is now in the full prime and vigor of manhood. From the people and of them, he has been mainly the architect of his own fortune. His father, a well-to-do farmer, held with most New England fathers of that day that it was better for boys to help themselves than to be dependent upon the paternal savings, and after having furnished his son with the means of acquiring an education, he sent him forth from the paternal home, at an early age, to make his way in the world and fight the battle of life unaided, save by his own energy and talents.

In college, Judge Williams gave promise of his future success. He became at once one of the most popular men of his class, loved and respected by all for his correct deportment, his kind and social disposition, his high sense of honor, his great regard for truth, his strict integrity, and for his entire freedom from envy and jealousy. He immediately took his rank as a scholar, especially as a speaker, a writer, a debater, a logician and a metaphysician, which rank he maintained and increased during his collegiate course. He graduated at Amherst College, Massachusetts, in the summer of 1837, and so proud has his alma mater been of this one of her favorite sons that she sometime since honored herself by bestowing upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. After spending the intervening time in teaching, he commenced reading law in the office of Ex-Chief Justice Lowrie, of this city, in the spring of 1839, and was admitted to the bar of this county in May, 1841. He practiced his profession with increasing success from the time of his admission to the bar, as a partner with his preceptor, until the latter was appointed Judge of the District Court of this County, and then with the late Wm. M. Shinn, until elevated for the first time to his present position in the fall of 1851.

As a lawyer Judge Williams was a cautious, safe, honest and reliable counsellor, and an earnest, eloquent and generally successful advocate. He endeavored to keep his clients out of the law instead of getting them in, but when in, with a good cause, all his energies and abilities were bent to bringing matters to a favorable issue. His dealings with his clients were ever characterized by justice and faithfulness. While he would never knowingly take a bad case for the sake of the fee, he never gave up a good one because his client was unable to pay him. His intercourse with his professional brethren was always kind, courteous and honorable, never withdrawing from his word, and never resorting to what is termed "sharp practice" to gain an advantage over his opponent. Had he remained at the Bar, few would have met with greater success in that most difficult, laborious and honorable profession.

At a large and respectable Convention of the old Whig party of this county, held on the 4th of June, 1851, Judge Williams, then young in years and in his profession, and without judicial experience, without solicitation on his part, was nominated by acclamation for the responsible position which he now holds, and was placed upon the Judicial ticket of that party with Hon. Walter Forward, as the candidate for President Judge of the District Court, and Hon. William B. McClure as the candidate for President Judge of the Courts of Common Pleas, &c. His opponent at the election in the Fall was Judge Shaler, a lawyer of eminent ability and learning, who added to his other qualifications for the position an experience of several years upon the Bench to which the Democratic party sought again to elevate him. The result of the election showed that the action of the Convention in nominating Judge Williams, without a dissenting voice, was peculiarly acceptable to the people. He ran ahead of his ticket in the ward in which he lived, in "the old Democratic Third Ward," and in the county, beating his able opponent 2,245, while Judge Forward's majority over Judge Hepburn was only 1,228, and Judge McClure's over James S. Craft only 1,117.

So well, faithfully, impartially and satisfactorily did Judge Williams discharge the duties of his office, and so learned, upright and useful a Judge did he prove himself to be, in the estimation of all men, that at the end of his first judicial term of ten years, in 1861, he was nominated by acclamation by the then two great parties of the country, and was re-elected without opposition from any quarter. Such renewed evidences of popularity and appreciation in one's own neighborhood, and among men of all parties, are very rare, and most clearly foreshadow the very flattering vote which the Judge will receive from the people of this county on the second Tuesday of October next.

Judge Williams' manners and bearing are always pleasing. In social intercourse, he is the life of the circle in which he mingles. Cheerful, lively and witty, never by look or word, intentionally, wounding the feelings, or speaking ill of any one, he makes friends of all. His extensive reading and large information upon all subjects, make his society sought for by the learned and scientific. In history, in the classics, and in the natural and metaphysical sciences, there are few more thorough and extensive students than Judge Williams.

Judge Williams' moral and religious character is beyond reproach. Temperate and chaste in all things, truthful in his words and honest and upright in all his dealings, neither by word nor by act does he ever offend public decency, or bring the cause of sound morals and true religion into reproach. Religious without Phariseeism or bigotry, while he selects and cherishes his own church connections, in which he has ever been a consistent, earnest, active and leading professor, he cheerfully, and as a matter of principle, concedes the right of judging and determining for themselves to all other men. No one ever heard him denounce any man, or any sect, for differing with him upon theological dogmas.

In politics, Judge Williams was at the first a Whig of the Clay and Webster school, holding with the former that protection to some extent was necessary to encourage and foster the industrial interests of Pennsylvania, and with the latter that there was no object in our politics so much to be constantly kept in mind and maintained, in every event, as the perpetual union of these States. When the exigencies of the times gave birth to the Republican party, his far-seeing patriotism, and his long cherished love of the Union, led him to cast his votes and give his influence, so far as it was consistent with his official station, in favor of the principles and candidates of that party. During the rebellion he supported the Government and the armies of the Union by every means in his power, upholding the credit and authority of the former, and encouraging by constant faith the glorious success of the latter. Those intimate with him will not readily forget his energetic utterances against treason and traitors, and the strong and emphatic manner with which he was wont to declare that the Union must and should, at all hazards, be preserved. While no partisan or ultraist in politics, he is in favor of improvement and reform, when the charges of the times and the wants of the people demand them.

The judicial position which Judge Williams has held for over fifteen years is as important and responsible as any in the State. It has been adorned by some of the best legal minds, and it is not saying too much of him to say that he has proved himself in every respect the equal of any of them. During the time that he has been upon the bench he has probably tried as many and as important commercial, land and constitutional cases as any other Judge of his years in the State, and as a commercial and constitutional lawyer and Judge, he has no superior upon the bench. Quick to see the real point in the cause presented before him, and prompt to decide according to the well established rules of law and evidence, he has shown himself a sound, clear and practical Judge, whose opinions and decisions have been as seldom reversed by the Supreme Court as those of any other Judge of any other inferior Court in the State. These opinions, many of which have found place in our legal reports, are sound and lucid expositions of the law of the case before him. They always possess the merit of adhesion to the question at issue, of clearness and brevity. He never wanders from the point involved, and never seeks to inject his own notions of law or ethics into the decisions of the Courts which ought ever to be faithful interpretations of Constitutions and laws as they are. He is not a judicial law-maker, many of whom, to the grief of the profession, we have, but a judicial law expounder, leaving the making of the laws to those whose business it is. In his charges to the jury, he lays down the law of the case with great clearness and leaves all questions of fact fairly to their determination.

Judge Williams is emphatically an honest, impartial and just Judge. He cannot be turned a hair's breadth, by prejudice, by favor, or by interest from what he believes to be the cause before him. So well is his stern integrity as a Judge understood in this community, that no counsel or suitor ever undertook to influence him in the decision of a cause pending before him, save by legal testimony and sound legal argument.

Judge Williams is a Christian gentleman, a ripe scholar, a sound and well-read lawyer and a just Judge, to whom the celebrated lines of the opening of the third ode of Horace will apply with as much force and truth as to any other man:

> Justum ac tenacem propositi virum,
> Non civium ardor prava jubentium,
> Non vultus instantis tyranni,
> Mente quatit solida.

With such a candidate and in a cause so worthy, our own and the other counties of the Western part of the State will vie with Philadelphia and her sister counties of the East in raising the banner of Freedom and the Union still higher, and in inaugurating a campaign for free principles and a united, peaceful and happy country, which shall culminate in the glorious victories of 1868, under the leadership of a Thomas, a Sheridan, a Sherman, or a Grant.

The next speaker introduced was

B. F. LUCAS, ESQ.,

Who supposed that the meeting was aware that the committee of arrangements had thought it best for the speakers to make short speeches, and he would be governed by that rule. He thought it as well to say something of the platform as well as of the candidate. That he had known Judge Williams for a long time, and for honesty of purpose and ability as a jurist he had no superiors in the Commonwealth, and that the representatives of the people at the Williamsport Convention had faithfully discharged their duty by placing him in nomination as the candidate of the great Republican party, for the Supreme Bench. He had been acquainted with Judge Williams since 1848, and had tried cases before him, some of which had been decided against him, and he had no doubt but that if his life and health was spared he would decide more against him, and he hoped many in his favor, in a higher court, for his election was as sure as the rising and setting of the sun. He had said to the Convention that placed Judge Williams in nomination, that notwithstanding there were many other good men aspiring to the position, that Allegheny county would give Judge Williams a thousand more votes than she would to any other man in the field. He thought in comparing the records of the opposing candidates, Williams and Sharswood, during the late rebellion, in a time which tried men's souls, that the record of Williams would not suffer by the comparison. That while we had no right to make any imputation against the personal and private character of Judge Sharswood, we had a right to criticise his public acts, many of which were of a most notorious character, and injurious to the Government. He knew that the people of Allegheny county would all go to the election and vote for Judge Williams, and that we would send him east of the mountains with a larger majority than had been given to any man who occupied the Supreme Bench.

The next speaker introduced was

who ascended the platform amidst much enthusiasm and proceeded to address the meeting. He said that he was happy to raise his voice in behalf of the able and learned jurist, Judge Williams, because he admired the man for his many noble traits of character and able qualities. He had known him for a series of years and had learned to esteem him, not because he was a single Judge upon our county bench worthy of special admiration, for all are sound and accomplished jurists, but because he was the possessor of all the qualifications for the bench and held the respect of both Judges and practitioners. The nomination of Mr. Williams, he was pleased to say, had given entire and very general satisfaction throughout the entire State—had been received with more favor and enthusiasm than that accorded any candidate he had ever known. The speaker paid a high compliment to Judge Sharswood, the opposition candidate, whose personal character, he said, was above reproach, but like many honest Democrats, he remained in the wilderness with Moses, and unless he quitted Moses he had a chance of remaining there a lite time. He was glad to say that all the Democratic members of the bar who are acquainted with Mr. Williams, freely admit and add testimony to his high character, his sterling honesty, worth and integrity. He had known him for fifteen years, and no man dare raise his voice to say that the Judge could be made to swerve from the right by any inducements or considerations. The Supreme Judges of the State, Democrats, had designated Mr. Williams, previous to his nomination, as the candidate upon whom the triumphant Union party should select as a successor to to Mr. Woodward. The bar of Allegheny county regret that it is about to lose him but feel that it is due his high judicial qualifications that he should be elevated to the office for which nominated.

Major Brown concluded his masterly address, of which we have given but a brief outline, by an eloquent allusion to the fallen heroes of our State who fell while fighting for the principles which are so near and dear to every Republican, and which have ever been so sacredly cherished by our candidate, Hon. H. W. Williams.

LETTER FROM JUDGE VEECH.

Judge Veech was next called for, his name appearing on the list of gentlemen invited to address the meeting. Mr. C. B. M. Smith stated that the gentleman was not present, but had sent greeting to his fellow citizens in the following letter:

To C. B. M. Smith, Esq., Chairman of Committee of Arrangements:

DEAR SIR:—I yield to no man in my devotedness to the election of Hon. Henry W. Williams to the Bench of the Supreme Court—but regret that my health will not allow me to fill my place in the roll of speakers at your meeting to-night.

Yours, very truly,
JAMES VEECH.

HON. S. A. PURVIANCE

Was next introduced, and received with marked enthusiasm. He proceeded to pay a high tribute to the worth and ability of Judge Williams, who, he said, was the peer of any and every Judge on the bench in the commonwealth. The speaker next referred to the political corruption of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania at the outbreaking of the rebellion; when Hons. Woodward, Lowrie and Thompson had decided against the drafts, and had placed the State in a position of antagonism to the general government. He held that had it not been that the popular will placed Judge Agnew on the Supreme bench, our State troops would have been withdrawn from the field and rebellion triumphed. He looked upon the selection of a Supreme Judge, as of much more importance to the people than the choice of a Governor. The term of office is for fifteen years, and look at the magnitude of the question which will come up before that tribunal, questions which may be of vital interest to the people and government. Put Judge Sharswood on that bench and he may decide our currency unconstitutional, reconstruction measures unlawful and may bring the State Judiciary in direct opposition to the Federal Judiciary. The learned speaker dwelt to considerable length in explaining the position assumed by Judge Sharswood in deciding the greenback issues of our government; put forth to aid our country in time of need, as unconstitutional. The speaker was frequently applauded, and delivered the argumentative address of the evening.

HON. THOMAS HOWARD

Said he could most cheerfully join with the speakers who had preceded him in their encomiums on the Hon. Henry W. Williams, and heartily joined in the ratification of his nomination as the candidate of the Union Republican party for the Supreme Bench; that great and momentous questions were involved in the contest, on which matters of vital importance depended, and in addition to these it was the forerunner of the Presidential contest. That while the rebels were thundering at the Government with their artillery in the South, many disloyal men were found in the North, and some of them on the Bench, who did all in their power to destroy the Government by deciding every point brought before them in favor of those who were attempting to destroy it. That while many questions had been permanently settled on the field of battle, many others of vital importance remained to be settled by the Judiciary, and it was an all important matter to have a man on the Bench whose record was clear; he who was known to be sound on all the leading questions, and in whom the people have confidence. He hoped that the people would not be deceived into the belief that there were no great questions at issue, and thereby be induced to remain at home on the day of election, but that they would go into the campaign with a spirit that would send terror to the ranks of the opposition, and triumphantly elect the Hon. Henry W. Williams to the Supreme Bench of the State of Pennsylvania.

RESOLUTIONS.

R. B. Carnahan, Esq., Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions presented the following, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Republicans of Allegheny county, in mass meeting assembled, do hereby ratify the platform of principles adopted by the Republican State Convention at Williamsport, on the 25th of June ultimo, and we fully assent to and accept the declaration of opinions and purposes contained in the resolutions of that Convention.

Resolved, That in our fellow-citizen, Hon. Henry W. Williams, we have a candidate for the office of Judge of the Supreme Court most worthy of the suffrages of the party and the people. His great abilities, profound and extensive legal learning, and long experience in judicial labors eminently fit him for the office. His consistent uprightness and purity of character in public and private life have long since secured him the respect and confidence of his fellow-citizens, and his unfaltering patriotism and devotion to the cause of his country entitle him to the support of every Pennsylvanian in a contest which involves the vital principles of our governments.

Resolved, That in the nomination of Judge Williams we recognize and fully appreciate the compliment thereby conveyed to the steadfastness of our ever faithful county, and we will endeavor to still more deserve the confidence of our co-laborers throughout the State, by giving him a majority worthy of this Gibraltar of Republicanism.

Resolved, That the great and most imperative duty of Congress is to gather up and forever secure to the country the legitimate fruits of the victory purchased by rivers of blood'—of Patriotism over Treason; of Freedom over Slavery; and to fix, on immovable foundations, those great principles of American liberty which animated and sustained our forefathers in their struggle for independence, but which had not heretofore attained a perfect development, to wit: For all men, citizenship and equality of civil rights. For all of the States, Republican institutions of government, not in name merely, but in truth and in fact.

Resolved, That we honor and applaud the courage, wisdom and patriotism of the Republican members of the 39th and 40th Congress, so conspicuously manifested in the measures known as the Reconstruction Laws. Their noble fidelity in the midst of defection and faithlessness, will be long remembered by a grateful country. And the gratitude of every loyal man is especially due to the members of the 40th Congress, who have assembled at this time, to rescue from failure and defeat, the objects and purposes of those wise and necessary measures, which would otherwise have been frustrated and turned to naught by a faithless Executive.

Resolved, That the political contest on which we are now entering is but the beginning of the great Presidential campaign, which will terminate in November, 1868, and involves all of the great principles on which the issue will be made up. We are not doubtful as to the result. But we exhort all loyal men to repair at once to their standards, and maintain themselves, as they and their fathers and brothers did in the dark days of treason and rebellion, and the great, triumphant, and final crowning victory will assuredly be theirs. Treason will be made an impossible crime in a great, free and happy country.

The National Insurance Company of Allegheny.

The National Insurance Company of Allegheny City, which was started under favorable auspices some fifteen months ago, has just declared a handsome dividend out of the net earnings of the past six months. This company takes only fire risks, and under the excellent business management of W. W. Martin, Esq., of the well known firm of Martin, Brickel & Co., President, and James E. Stevenson, Esq., Secretary, has met with a large share of success. It is in every respect a home institution, the stock being held mainly by capitalists of our sister city, and its affairs managed by gentlemen of experience and integrity, who are well known to the business community at large. We know of no more reliable Insurance Company, and are pleased that the public appreciate its advantages, and accord to it a liberal share of patronage. Within a few months it has assumed an importance among the leading companies of the country, a fact which attests the home pride and enterprise of our neighbors across the river. Merchants, property holders and others contemplating taking out policies of fire insurance should examine into the claims of the National before insuring elsewhere, as, aside from being strictly a home company, many other superior advantages are offered. The office is located in the Allegheny Trust Company's Building, No. 67 Diamond. Having long and intimate acquaintance with the gentlemen controlling the affairs of the institution, we can safely commend it to the patronage of our readers, believing it to be one of the most reliable and responsible companies in America.

Change of Agency.

NEW YORK, July 6, 1867.—We hereby notify the public of Pittsburgh and vicinity, that we have transferred the agency for the sale of our Pianos from Messrs. Hoffman, Hoene & Co., to Mr. C. C. Mellor, No. 81 Wood street. Mr. Mellor will furnish our pianos at the same price they are sold at our warehouse. DECKER & BROS.

From the above the public will know that hereafter the Decker & Bro's. pianos are only to be found at C. C. Mellor's warerooms. Persons desiring to purchase a first class Piano should not fail to examine the Deckers. WSE

Sharp Police Practice.

We learned yesterday of some "sharp practice," in which two police officers and an Alderman were concerned. A woman, residing in the upper part of the city, ran an account with a Hebrew merchant, to the amount of forty or fifty dollars, promising to pay it when she was able. Whether the circumstance "blasted his hopes," and stimulated his subsequent action, we cannot say, but the woman took unto herself a husband, whereupon the Hebrew gallant became solicitous concerning the payment of the aforesaid bill, and consulted with an Alderman, who might take an information for assault and battery against a corporation. The magistrate undertook to collect the bill for a liberal per centage, calling to his aid two police officers, who were promised a "share" for the part they were to perform. Every thing being arranged, the woman, now a wife, when about to remove her trunk from the house where she had been boarding, was waited upon by the aforesaid officers, the trunk seized, and the price of its redemption announced to be the amount called for in the bill referred to, duly exhibited. Here was a dilemma. The woman protested she had not the money, and that she must look to her husband for it. The officers were inexorable. Money down, or the trunk could not be taken away. The woman of the house where this occurred also protested, but to no purpose, and she was informed that it might be of service to her if she assisted her departing boarder to raise the funds. The boarding mistress saw in this a threat to press a certain charge pending against her, or perhaps to bringing of another of like character, and her fears getting the better of her judgment, she gave to the officers her watch as a pledge for the payment of the bill. The newly married woman was then allowed to depart with her baggage. The watch passed into the hands of the Alderman, which he still retains, and has stated he will not deliver it up until the bill is paid, or at least a certain amount sufficient to pay his "per centage," and the officers for their services. In other words, it would appear that the amount of the bill is not seriously considered about, since the Alderman has the 'collateral' in his hands. If he gets his share and sufficient to pay for the "dirty work" done by the officers, he will be satisfied, thus breaking faith with the Hebrew merchant. The owner of the watch having heard such intimation, has, we understand, deposited with a party a sum sufficient to cover such demand, with an order on the Alderman for the watch; but it is under consideration whether or not suit should be entered against the Alderman and his officers for trover and conversion, or for a criminal offense. A little further progress in such business, by the parties referred to, will not fail to place them in the category with Keep and Lutz, now in prison, and Garber, awaiting sentence for extortion.

The Eighth Ward Arson Case.

Alderman Butler yesterday gave a hearing in the case of arson in which Nicholas Pfenzinger, Patrick Clark, and Thomas Thompson were charged on oath of John Little with setting fire to the stable of D. Hutchinson, which, together with seven horses, was burned up on the night of the 10th. The testimony offered against the accused was not by any means conclusive, being based almost solely upon the fact that they had difficulties with Mr. Hutchinson, such as quarrels, and law suits.

The first witness was Little, who testified he made the charge upon information received.

Mr. Hutchinson testified to having seen parties under suspicious circumstances, in the vicinity of his stable, on the night of the fire. He could not positively identify any of the men he saw, but judged from their walk and general appearance that they were the accused. During his examination Mr. Hutchinson saw at the door a witness who had been subpœned by the defence, named Jacob Wilhelm, and said he thought he could identify him as one of the "suspicious individuals." Upon this the Alderman added the name of Wilhelm on the information.

John H. Dipper, tavern-keeper at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Magee street, testified for the defense that Pfenzinger was at his house on the night of the fire, and that he started home at about ten o'clock.

John Wilhelm was called, but the Alderman having added his name to the list of the accused, the prosecution objected to his testimony. The objection was sustained, the Alderman remarking that he had put Wilhelm's name in the information on the testimony of Mr. Hutchinson, who said he was the man who sat on a board pile on the night of the fire.

After reflection Alderman Butler decided to strike Wilhelm's name from the information and let him be sworn as a witness, which being done, Wilhelm testified he was in the employ of Mr. Nicholas Pfenzinger, one of the accused, who has a brewery in the Eighth ward; that on the night of the fire Mr. Pfenzinger was at home, that about eleven o'clock witness went to bed, and in doing so passed through the room occupied by Mr. P., who was in his bed and asleep. After witness had been asleep a short time, he was aroused by hearing Mrs. Pfenzinger call out, "Nicholas, Nicholas," and "Jake, Hutchinson's stable is on fire." Witness looked out at a window and saw the fire; Mr Pfenzinger was still in bed.

The Alderman discharged Patrick Clark, and held over the case as to the others until six o'clock, when Pfenzinger and Thompson were discharged.

Husband vs. Wife—Police Melange.

William Harris, residing "on the hill," claims to be a persecuted individual. On Monday his wife prosecuted him before Alderman Johns, in the Seventh Ward, for disorderly conduct. He was adjudged guilty, and in default of fine and costs, (more particularly the latter,) the magistrate furnished officer Jones with a commitment directing him to convey the prisoner to jail. On the way to the prison Harris was permitted to enter the office of Alderman Lindsay, in the Sixth Ward, where, the Alderman seeing no impropriety in the matter, his information was taken against his wife for keeping a disorderly house. It is a fact, the husband was allowed by the Alderman to prosecute his wife for such offence, himself residing, by his own admission, in the house with her. Officer Jones then, taking a friend as security for "costs" in the case before Alderman Johns, released Harris, thus disregarding the mandate of the Alderman. Subsequently Mrs Harris was arrested on the information made by her husband, and released by Alderman Lindsay, on payment of costs. Mrs. Harris next made information before Alderman Butler against her husband for malicious mischief, in tearing up her clothing and other mischievous doings. Later in the day, and before Alderman Butler had issued a warrant for him, Mrs. Harris made another information before Alderman Lindsay, charging him with assault and battery. As early as five o'clock a. m., yesterday, Harris was before the Alderman under arrest on the last charge, and in default of bail he was committed to jail. Alderman Butler, less disposed to encourage this species of litigation, and hence not so much concerned in the matter of costs, up to two o'clock yesterday had not lodged a commitment against Harris on the malicious mischief charge made before him. In the race between husband and wife, as to which could succeed in putting the other out of the way by confinement in prison, the latter has succeeded, with the aid afforded by Alderman Lindsay. To what base uses is the office of Alderman sometimes prostituted.

Miraculous Escape.

A man giving his name as Bennet Harris was run over yesterday by a two-horse wagon, loaded with grain, narrowly escaping death. Harris, in company with his wife, arrived in the city Monday night, from Philadelphia, and yesterday morning both of them, after having taken several drinks of something stronger than soda water, started across the Suspension Bridge for Allegheny. When they arrived at the farther end of the bridge Harris was staggering drunk and his wife not little better, and on leaving the bridge he staggered into the street and fell, with his head on the railroad track just in front of a two-horse wagon, which was heavily loaded with grain, the front wheel passing over his head, and the hind wheel over both his legs. Strange to say, the man is not seriously injured. He was picked up in an insensible condition, carried to a house near by, and Dr. Rankin, who was passing at the time, called in to see him. After a careful examination, it was found that his injuries were not serious, not even a bone broken. His wife making a terrible fuss about the matter, officer Hess procured a conveyance and had the two taken to the lock-up. The man has a severe cut on the right side of the head above the eye, his left cheek is somewhat bruised where the wheel passed over it, and his legs are terribly bruised from the knees to the hips. The wife is highly indignant at the charge of being drunk, says that neither she nor her husband had tasted a "drap of the crather that day," and accounts for the accident by saying that her husband cannot see well, and was attempting to cross the street when the wagon run against him. She says her husband was in the army and that he spent three months in Andersonville prison, where he lost his eye sight. But we think from the appearance of both of them they had been indulging freely in aqua mirabilis, which readily accounts for the dimness of sight.

The Continental Saloon.

Among the many well conducted first class restaurants and eating saloons in the city none stand higher in the estimation of the public than the "Continental," situated next door to the Postoffice, on Fifth street. It has for a long time past been under the management of Mr. Wm. Holtzheimer, the worthiest and most skilled of proprietors, and has ever merited and received a large share of public patronage. The saloon is well arranged for the business to which it is adapted, being large, airy and neatly fitted. The furniture is of first class style, while the utmost cleanliness prevails. All the cooking is done in the rear of the saloon—a great convenience in this warm weather which other places for dining might profitably adopt. The tables are kept constantly supplied with the choicest of viands and delicacies which the markets afford, served up in the very best style of the culinary art. The bar is liberally supplied with ales, wines and beers, no stronger beverages being sold. To those desirous of procuring a first class meal we can safely recommend Mr. Holtzheimer's saloon.

Some of our Cotemporaries seem to think that the triumph of their cause depended, like the fate of Jericho, upon the amount of noise made—in these days of refinement and luxury, an article of real intrinsic merit is soon appreciated: hence the unbounded and unparalleled success of PLANTATION BITTERS.

This remedy has ever and always been found reliable. As a gentle stimulant and tonic appetizer it cannot be excelled. It is no doubt a sovereign remedy for stomachic disorders—for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and in stimulating a healthy appetite. *

Magnolia Water.—A delightful toilet article—superior to Cologne and at half the price. *

Styles Change with the Times.

That styles change with the times is a self-evident fact, but whether the change is always advantageous is not quite so clearly demonstrated, and we shall not attempt to settle the question, as it might lead us into a metaphysical disposition, from which it would require time to extract ourselves, but we are confident that the prevailing style of carpeting floors is a good one, and is destined to last as long as houses are in use. It is really wonderful to what perfection the art of carpet weaving has been brought to, and it is quite a treat to go through the extensive carpet establishment of Bovard, Rose & Co., 21 Fifth street, (second floor) to see the great variety of styles, and beautiful patterns of Brussels and other carpets, and the unusually low rates at which they are selling them. They also keep a full assortment of straw matting, which they are selling at unusually low figures. Persons desiring a good article of carpet at low prices should give them a call.

Horses.

The horse is the most useful to man of the animal creation, and next to man in intelligence. There is no animal so universally admired, and none more deserving of admiration, and at this season of the year, when the roads are in such excellent condition, what is more attractive than a driver behind a pair of "spanking bays," or if you prefer the color "dappled greys" or "glory blacks," in a good turn out, with pleasant company? We can imagine no more pleasant way of spend ng an hour or two, and if any of our friends should decide to try it, we would advise them to go to Moreland & Mitchell's Livery and Sale Stables, No. 425 Liberty street, opposite the Union Depot, where they can be accommodated at all times on the most reasonable terms. If you want to purchase a horse, they are the men to buy from, and if you wish to hire, you will not find better stock in the city, and the vehicles are all of the latest style. Give them a call.

W. S. Huselton, M. D.—The professional card of this skillful practitioner and surgeon, who has established an office at No. 67 Federal street, Allegheny City, will be found in another column. Dr. Huselton has had large experience in surgery, having for a number of years held the important position of surgeon in the Union army with much credit and distinction. He is a careful and talented physician, and we take pleasure in commending him to our readers.

The Birmingham Bridge Outrage.—The parties arrested on suspicion of being connected with the Birmingham bridge outrage had a hearing yesterday evening, which resulted in the discharge of Patten, and M'Ilvary being held for a further hearing. Facts were developed at the hearing which implicated other parties. The police have arrested Abe Benton, one of those implicated, and are on the track of the others.

Dissolution.—The old firm of Baird, Brown & Co., plumbers, gas and steam fitters, has been dissolved, and the books left in the hands of John B. Watson, 55 Federal street, Allegheny City, for settlement. The business will hereafter be conducted by S. Biff, Brown & Carson, at No. 55 Federal street, Allegheny City. This is a reliable and experienced firm, and persons having work in their line will do well to give them a call.

Sunday School Pic-nic.—The Sabbath School connected with St. Paul's Episcopal Church in the Seventh ward, of which Mr. Barnes is superintendent, will hold a pic-nic on Tuesday (to-morrow) should the weather prove pleasant, at a beautiful grove near East Liberty. Parents of the children and all friends of the school are cordially invited to be present and take part in the enjoyment. Cars run to and from the grounds at all hours of the day.

Cold Sparkling Soda Water at J. T. Sample's Drug Store, No. 28 Federal street, Allegheny.

We sell Dry Goods both at wholesale and retail, and are, as a consequence, enabled to keep a larger and much better assorted stock, to sell cheaper, and give the goods in more accommodating quantities than exclusive jobbing houses. Retail merchants are invited to examine our stock.
J. W. BARKER & CO.,
59 Market street.

Pure North Carolina Tar, in barrels, half barrels and kegs, can be had at FLEMING'S DRUG STORE, No. 84 Market street, at lowest rates; also, Turpentine Rosin, Oils and Varnishes. Remember that the Tar is the genuine Southern article, and can be had cheaper of FLEMING'S than elsewhere in the city. *

All Diseases are aggravated more or less by indigestion. In all cases, the first thing in order to remove disease, is to regulate the stomach and bowels. No better general cathartic can be administered for this purpose than Wilson's Pills. Sold by all the principal druggists in the United States.

Fire.—The alarm of fire last evening was caused by a slight fire in the grocery and feed store of Wm. Little, at the corner of Crawford street and Centre avenue. No damage was done beyond the burning of five bunches of brooms and a ham. It is not known how the fire originated.

Deafness, Discharges from the Ears, Catarrh, Diseases of the Eye, and all affections of a chronic and obstinate character successfully treated by Dr. Aborn, 134 Smithfield street.

No Place Else in the City—Can better or cheaper Boots, Shoes, Balmorals and everything else in this line, be found than at the time honored store of James Robb, No. 89 Market street. *

Splendid Hall for Rent.—The large Hall in Apollo Building, Fourth street, now occupied by the "Grand Army of the Republic." Apply to R. H. Long, 112 Grant street.

UNION REPUBLICAN NOMINATION.

FOR JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT:

HON. HENRY W. WILLIAMS,

Of Allegheny County.

FREE TRADE IN ENGLAND.

Some years ago, upon a careful survey, the statesmen and manufacturers of England came to the conclusion that the advantages existing in that country for the production of most kinds of goods were unequalled by those of any competing nation. Accumulated capital, vast supplies of machinery, and a crowded population, seemed to promise continued facilities for cheap production, defying rivalry. It was this that induced them, in profession, to relinquish the traditionary policy of Protection, and avow the intention of establishing Free Trade. The Corn Laws were abridged, and impost duties abated on certain articles of manufacture; but the external revenue system was maintained, on the whole, as vigorously as ever. Under pretense of Revenue duties, as large a degree of Protection has been kept up as varying exigencies have seemed to require.

Latterly, however, the same classes have become satisfied they made mistakes in their calculation, or else that the relative condition of a number of the European nations has essentially changed within the last few years. One of the leading organs of British opinion now writes:

"How shall Great Britain continue to hold her present high place in the world if, in consequence of the demands of her workingmen for more wages and less labor, she loses the manufacturing supremacy that makes her rich and powerful in a degree disproportioned to the space which she occupied on the globe. If the English workingman must not only have his daily bread, but his daily beef, his daily beer, his daily gin, and his daily tobacco; if he must systematically keep "Saint Monday," he will virtually do but four and a half days' work out of the six; and if, altogether, it requires to support him at least twice as much as satisfies the Belgian, the Frenchman, or German; three times as much as contents the Spaniard, the Russian or the Italian; ten times as much as serves the needs of the Chinaman, and twenty times as much as makes the Hindoo happy—how are the British employers of labor to compete successfully with the employers of other countries, aided as they are by steam power and all those appliances of modern science, combined with cheaper labor?"

Does any one demand why these considerations are urged upon the attention of the British people just now? Two causes conspire to constrain both manufacturers and statesmen to review this whole subject. The first of these is the prevalence of strikes on the part of workingmen for more wages or less hours of toil, or both. But these strikes are not peculiar to Great Britain. They prevail throughout most of the countries of continental Europe in which manufacturing industry has become a principal source of individual wealth and national greatness. If the pressure for less work and more pay was confined to the British islands, it would subject employers there to peculiar hardships and would eventuate in national decadence. Manufacturing could not be continued there. The fact is the workingmen of France, Belgium and Holland, are just as intent on bettering their condition as those of England, and press as violently for larger compensation and fewer hours of labor. The real cause of alarm, therefore, in Great Britain is the discovery that the cost of production is actually less in some other countries than there. Notwithstanding the existing impost duties, French, Belgian and Dutch manufacturers are competing successfully with British manufacturers in in British markets; nay, are driving them to the wall. All who have observed the progress of this competition are convinced that English imposts will be materially raised as a break-water thereto.

The citation made above from an English writer, discloses the actual tendency of Free Trade, which is to bring down labor to the lowest rate of remuneration prevailing anywhere. Those who will work cheapest, and have adequate machinery to help them, can control the market. If workingmen in the United States were only content to live in as simple and mean a way as the laborers of China or India, they could put wares on the general market of the world at lower prices than the laborers of any other nation, because they have certain special advantages. But this degradation of the workingmen would be the degradation of the nation itself. Fortunately, under republican institutions, the great body of workingmen possess the means of self-protection, and are not slow in availing themselves thereof.

FEMALE PHYSICIANS.

We have great respect for the Medical Profession. He who has a heart to feel for the ills of men, and skill and a disposition to relieve them, is one of the noblest of men. We were, therefore, sorry to notice the manner in which the resolution of Dr. MOWRY, advocated so ably by Dr. ATLEE, of Philadelphia, was disposed of, at the recent meeting of the State Medical Society in this city. We hoped those who know so well as Physicians do, women's capacity to endure and ability to perform, would be willing to give her claims, if "regularly educated" as a physician, and if observant "of the code of ethics," to be recognized and consulted with, a free discussion. We know that scientific men have ever been slow to allow innovations. But the establishment of medical schools for women in our largest cities—the three hundred female physicians already having extensive practice in our country—the very respectable vote—56 for and 68 against her—in the American Institute of Homeopathy—the liberal character of the new charter of the London University admitting women to general examinations to test their qualifications not only as governesses and teachers, but also to special examination for degrees in medicine and law—the issuing, after much agitation, in Holland, of a decree admitting females to the examinations for the position of Apothecaries, an occupation hitherto restricted exclusively to men, are shadows of coming events, too plainly seen to be disregarded. A cause so manifestly just as the extending of women's field of labor, in which there are so many of her own sex, and so many men of the finest minds and the most extensive acquirements enlisted, will not fail to succeed. Making shirts for six and a quarter cents, and paper bags for one-half of one mill apiece, are not to be the sole means of support for herself and her children. Her ability as a practitioner has already been demonstrated, and when physicians are allowed without expulsion from the State Medical Society, to consult with men whose want of knowledge, judgment and skill is evident, we can see no reason why they should be forbidden to consult with female physicians "regularly educated."

Some of the objection urged by the County Societies, in their reports, were exceedingly weak, not to say ridiculous, as indelicacy, physical inability, and duty to take care of her children. The practice may be limited to her own sex and to children, and if not we should like to have it shown why the general practice would be more indelicate for her than for man. The opposite may be shown. Men here are blinded by custom—not influenced by what is proper and right.

After what we have seen the past few years of her endurance, in our camps and hospitals, ingloriously and without reward, laboring day and night for years to mitigate the sufferings and save the lives of the heroes of our land, the question of indelicacy and endurance should be dismissed. So long as she was simply an aid, not a competitor with man there were no objections. Children and home, for which it is said it is her duty to care, may not be hers, and even were this so, why this field of industry should be closed to her when struggling for the support of children and husband, it may be, we cannot see. If she has taste and evident fitness for this profession in which her own sex, more than the other, is interested, then let her adopt it. If her home duties are sufficient to occupy all her time she can confine herself to them. But if self-dependent she can at home very seldom have any remunerative employment, and she should be allowed some freedom of choice as to the manner in which she should support herself. Taste and capacity should be consulted. Woman wishes, and justly in our opinion, that her field of labor may be extended. Already enough have starved or been driven to vice by employments wholly unremunerative and unsuited to her education. In different ages of the world she has graced different departments of industry. She has taught in the highest schools of learning, she has led armies and governed nations. In our own land she has sent her husband or brothers to the army and has cultivated the soil. But a few years ago she was considered wholly unfit to instruct youths. Now the larger part of our schools are taught by her, and many of the highest character. Literature and science she has adorned. In philanthropy the names of a NIGHTINGALE and DIX will ever be remembered. JOHN STUART MILL, one of the first men of his own or of any age, and one of woman's warmest advocates, in one of his works, pays a most touching tribute to a departed wife, in crediting her with all that is truly valuable in his many very learned works, all of which were reviewed by her before they were given to the press.

Reform is progressing, christianity and civilization are advancing, woman's position is becoming more and more elevated, and her rights more respected. We live not in a heathen land. Here woman asks the right to earn a livelihood for herself, and it may be for others, in her own honest and honorable way—suited to her genius. This she will have. The earnest and talented twenty nine will see their numbers increase and the fifty five will diminish. When we have seen a single man stand up for the right and the oppressed against an entire nation and triumph, we despair not of woman's success in this her clear right. Thinking men, who love justice and virtue and who carefully consider this matter, will advocate her claims.

British Trades Unionism—How Murder is Reduced to a System

[From the London Times, June 25.]

The complete unraveling of the Sheffield mystery suggests and compels a question of much greater importance than the actual guilt of half a dozen men whose hands, it appears, had become used to blood, and who had lost all compunction for crime. It is a question in which we have been anticipated by the fanatical yet anxious advocates of Trades Union, who at every stage of this matter have eagerly volunteered extravagant defenses. The Unions, these apologists averred, had nothing to do with the Sheffield outrages. They were the private acts of violent men, no one knew whom, upon some provocation or another, no one could say what. Temper and pique would always show themselves in the best of causes. The Unions, it was exultingly pointed out, had challenged inquiry, demanded to be examined on oath, and even offered rewards, through their officers, for the discovery of the assassins. Even now, at the very last, when it has been brought out to the light of day that all these horrors were committed at the suggestion and instigation of Union officers, by Union agents and with Union money, it has been asserted as a last resource, that the perpetrators and accomplices were only some half dozen men, who kept their villainies to themselves, whose crimes were only a miserable episode in an otherwise innocent and meritorious organization, and who had actually to embezzle the funds and tamper with the accounts in order to procure means for hiring murderers, and to blind the eyes of their fellow Unionists. It was yet not only possible, but even certain, that in this case an immense number of people were contributing the means for the most dreadful atrocities, and deriving a certain advantage from them, without knowing anything about them, or having the least reason to suspect the authors. How far apology will go we know not, but the preliminaries of the question are now all before us. There is no longer the least mystery. The executive of three great organizations—one of them a society numbering sixty thousand—confesses to a black catalogue of murders and other outrages upon person and property, committed with the utmost deliberation, much counsel, long waiting, and in the most business-like style. And now we ask—as it appears to have been surmised long ago that we should have reason to ask—what is the mental and moral attitude of the many thousands of persons repeatedly hearing of the commission of hideous crimes in their supposed interest, to back up the laws of their Union, and punish "outlaws?"

They could not but perceive a wonderful agreement in the character and obvious intention of these crimes, all of them being as much in a series and on one code as the successive acts by which a regular government maintains its authority and punishes rebels or other offenders against its laws. It was in the general interest of the Union, and all its members, that a man was blown up, that a horse was hamstrung, that several men were shot, some killed, others cruelly injured, that houses, engines and furnaces were blown up, with families in their beds, or with abortive but still exemplary consequences. These visitations were not at random, and though mysterious in one sense were by no means so in another, for they were not inevitable in that sense which we intend when we so describe the visitations of Providence. This was not a power which confounded the innocent with the guilty. It was not as the bolt of heaven, that falls this day on the murderer, to-morrow on the blameless peasant at his work, the day after on the bride on her wedding tour, or the village school girl returning home, sachel in hand. Heaven may be inscrutable, not so the Sheffield power. If it hired its agency, it displayed its system, with all the emphasis and pretense of a present deity. To the understanding of the simplest Unionist or the merest child there was that which, or there were those who, singled out with unerring discrimination and struck with terrible effect all who refused to obey the edicts and laws of the Union. Whoever attempted to break its pale or touch its dignity was smitten by its shafts of fire. The canister of powder burst under his bed, the bullet pierced his brain, or the bludgeon rendered him a wreck for life. There was no possible mistake as to the identity of the system, of which these were the various recurrent manifestations. Then came the fearful question that must have presented itself to every mind and that must have harrassed some with the most painful misgivings. What was this power? Was it simply the wild fire of revenge breaking here and there, as occasion gave it vent, or as collision gave out the spark of fire? Was it an evil organization that had intruded, as a parasite into one that was more healthy as a disease in the Union, like an usurpation in a free State? It must have taxed every reasonable Unionist to know what this power was—as sure, as prompt, and as successful in its vengeance as any savage ever wished the cruelest fetish to be. The evidence given before the commission throws some light on the surmises prevalent in this community. It was known there were men ready to do any evil deed, without even the apology of a motive, for money, and with the excuse of obedience to a sovereign authority. It was rumored that this or that desperado had done it, at a command from above. Whatever that higher power, it worked with the Union, usurped the government, and possessed the whole body.

But the plain truth is, that it matters not what the power be, whether a conspiracy within the Union or a spirit of vengeance pervading its members, or whether the governors of the Union were themselves the actual murderers, as in fact they are now proved to have been; it is all the same as regards the mass of Unionists. They had come to acquiesce in a system of so-called protection enforced by outrage. They had come to feel their monopoly of employment dependent on the ready use of criminal and atrocious means. They had come to sympathize with the assassin, and exult over his victim. Why, even if in their ignorance they had believed some preternatural power the dealer of summary vengeance by seeming accident, or disease, or stroke of death, on all offenders against a purely selfish code, that belief itself would have vitiated and degraded their minds. If this Union—these Unions, we should rather say, for several were linked in the operations of Broadhead—had indeed believed that a power worked for them from above, or from below—it little matters—its religion and its morality would have been worse than that of Thugs, or the vilest known savage. Whoever believes, worships; and obeys it as his God; and if these men had ever fancied a deity working for them in the evil fashion, they would still have been assassins, though fanatical assassins. Of course they had no such belief. They only knew that there was some power or other working in a way too concurrent with their interests and their passions. Whatever it was, it did as they wished; they rejoiced in its crimes, and in heart and soul they identified themselves with it; they reaped its deadly harvest, they divided its booty, and they became what it was—one of the most guilty and hideous things ever discovered in this island.

Cool Conduct of a Husband Under Trying Circumstances.

[From the Adrian (Mich.) Times, July 8.]

The train from the west on a recent afternoon brought to this city a Chicago gentleman and his wife. They stopped at one of our hotels, and the next morning after their arrival, the gentleman announcing some business in the country, intimated his intention of proceeding to transact it, and asked his wife to accompany him. But his Madam declined to do so, pleading as an excuse a severe headache. Procuring a horse and buggy, the gentleman started for the country, desiring to see a man who resides about eight miles from the city, and intending to be absent most of the day.

Soon after the departure of her lord, Madam so far recovered herself as to be able to write a note and dispatch it to a certain gentleman in this city, who is somewhat notorious for his gallantries. We suppress names for obvious reasons. The recipient soon found time to call on the fair writer at her room. But now comes the startling denouement.

The husband of the invalid at the hotel, soon after leaving the city, met the gentleman he was in search of, thus precluding the necessity of going the whole distance to his house, and came back some hours sooner than he expected. He went immediately to his room, being naturally anxious after his wife's health. The door was locked, and the only effect of his knock was a somewhat irregular and suspicious commotion in the interior of the apartment. In a low tone, but one that admitted of no misunderstanding, he demanded that the door be opened. Madam, attired in a snowy robe de nuit, as he had left her, opened the door, and the husband entered. At the first glance there was no sign of any other inmate of the apartment. But the husband was not to be deceived by appearances, and soon from under the bed he fished a pair of boots—certainly not his. With no signs of anger he inquired of Madam from whence they came. Of course she did not know; they must have been left there by some former occupant of the apartment. Now gentlemen are not accustomed to leave good boots in their vacated apartments, and this our Chicago husband knew. A wardrobe caught his eye, and opening the door he discovered—the owner of the boots, our fellow-citizen, en deshabille in several other important particulars.

Under such trying circumstances many men would have lost their temper, and a little scene in which pistols played a prominent part might have ensued. But a long residence amid the christianizing influences of Chicago had rendered this injured husband superior to such ebullitions of anger. "Dress yourself, sir," said he to the gentleman in the wardrobe, "and we'll go and take a drink. Probably under the same circumstances I should have acted as you have. Mary, (to his wife) pack your trunk, and be ready to leave on the next train west. Go home to your parents. I never wish to see you again."

So said, so done. He carried out the programme to the letter. Many men are incapable of such superlative self-control.

A TIMELY WARNING.

It is especially important at this time, when the markets of the United States are flooded with the direst poisons, under the name of imported liquors and when domestic compounds purporting to be medicinal, but not a whit less pernicious, are heralded to the world as "sovereign remedies," that the public should fully understand the facts. Be it known, then, that while all the diffusive stimulants called liquors are impure, and all the Tonics containing alcohol are manufactured with a fiery article containing amyl or fusil oil, a mortal poison, HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS contain none of these things, but are a combination of pure essence of Rye with the pure juices of the most valuable stomachic, antibilious and aperient herbs and plants, and that as a safe and rapid remedy for Dyspepsia and all its kindred complaints, this preparation stands before the world without a rival or competitor. Its sales to-day are equal to the combined sales of all the other tonics advertised in the United States, and the certificates which authenticate its usefulness are signed by individuals of the highest standing in every professional calling and walk of life. Beware of imitations and impostors.

PINUS CANADENSIS.

A tree which is abundant in Canada, Nova Scotia, and the more northern parts of the New England States, and is also found in the elevated and mountainous regions of the Middle States, and abounds in medicinal virtues. Dr. Swett, of Boston, has prepared a medicine from the sweet inside bark of the pine tree, called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND, which is one of rare value in all debilitated states of the kidneys. It acts like a charm in all diseases of mucous membranes, enabling them to regain their lost tone and energy. It will be found well adapted to all those diseases, where Buchu has been tried and failed. It is likewise well suited to chronic coughs, and an infallible specific for old and debilitated cases of asthma. Many persons who at first only took a bottle of this medicine, to try, afterwards came back and got a dozen or half dozen, which effected radical cures of diseases of the bladder and kidney of years standing.

Diabetes, a disease that has been looked upon as among the incurables, is immediately relieved by it. Notice the certificate of Asa Goodnue, published some time ago.

The United States Dispensatory, speaking of the pine, says: "It is prescribed in leucorrhœa, gleet, and other diseases of the urinary passages; in piles and chronic inflammation or ulceration of the bowels, in chronic catarrhal affections, and in various forms of rheumatism." It is exceedingly valuable in all gravelly affections, bloody urine, and where there is red and white sediment. It can be taken without interruption to one's usual avocations; and instead of sickening, produces a bracing, healthy power of endurance and vigor. Price, $1 per bottle; six for $5. Ask for POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND. For sale by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at Dr. KEYSER'S Great Medicine Store, 140 Wood street. ap30

THE MEMBERSHIP AND CONGREGATION OF BROWN'S A. M. E. CHAPEL, through its Trustees and Pastor, Rev. J. W. DEVINE, appeal to all classes of Christians, in the name of our sovereign Ruler, the God and Father of all, for help, to enable them to complete their church, now in course of erection, on the corner of Hemlock and Boyle streets, Allegheny. Favored by the kindness of a few white friends, and the untiring exertions of the membership, our little Church has been trying to erect another temple to the honor of the Living God, ever since our building on East Commons was destroyed by the guilty hand of an incendiary.

We wish and pray for the success of all Christians, whether Presbyterians, Baptists, Episcopalians, or others. There are enough colored people in the two cities and the environs to fill churches specially devoted to the evangelical teachings of these denominations. Church Power is not alone our aim. We wish to build a church wherein we can worship God according to our consciences, and the light which He has given us.

Prof. S. A. NEALE, who is not of our faith, but is, nevertheless, an earnest worker in the Spiritual Kingdom of the Master, will act as our Agent for a brief while, and we have invested him with letters which empower him to solicit subscriptions from all well-wishers.

We also respectfully announce that a Grand Celebration of the victories of Freedom in this county, will come off at UNION PARK, in the Western part of Allegheny, AUGUST 1st, 1867. All the Colored Military and Civic Societies will participate, and a Grand Tournament will be one of the features of the occasion. All the profits will be devoted to the payment of our church debt.

The Birmingham Bridge Outrage.

Yesterday's GAZETTE contained the particulars of the fiendish outrage committed on Sunday night, at the city end of the Birmingham bridge, in the Eighth ward, as far as could be obtained from the police. We have some further and more definite information concerning the affair, which, if known to the police, they took pains to conceal, for what good purpose we cannot devine.

Barbara Roan, the girl outraged, came to the city with a young man, a German, to whom she was engaged to be married, (as she states,) and after being at church, went to Troy Hill, in Reserve township. There they remained until quite late in the evening, and her companion, from over indulgence in beer, became considerably intoxicated. On their way homeward they came to the Birmingham bridge after eleven o'clock, and were crossing on the lower side, when some of the "crowd" who make the city end of the bridge a loafing place during fine weather—watching for just such opportunities—noticing the condition of the girl's companion, went into the cartway of the bridge, and climbing over the partition, some six or seven feet in height, headed off their victim. The young man in her company was knocked down, and she was seized by the ruffians and carried to the tunnell under the street at the end of the bridge, where they accomplished the hellish deed. Meantime her companion, recovering himself, went to the toll house at the Birmingham end of the bridge, and informed the keeper, as intelligibly as he could, in his drunken condition, of what had occurred. He then returned across the bridge, in search of the young woman, but failing to obtain any trace of her, returned to the toll house. He was then advised to go to the city, and inform the police of the circumstance, and started on this mission.

After he left, about one o'clock, the girl, having been released by her assailants, came across the bridge, alone, and was called into the toll-house by the keeper, he supposing that it was concerning her that the young German was so solicitous. She told what had occurred, and it was not until after two o'clock that the police came and took her away. In this respect the particulars as heretofore given are incorrect, the officers not finding the outraged girl at the place where she had been taken, but in the toll-house at the other end of the bridge, where she had made her way unattended. The girl represented that she was carried off the bridge by five or six men, and was frightened into silence by threats to murder her, one displaying a long knife and another an axe. Before allowing her to depart from them, her outragers robbed her of a pocket book containing six dollars, a breast pin, and took two rings from her fingers, thus adding highway robbery to their other crime. They had ample time to get away, without any particular fear of discovery by the police, and whether any of them are brought to justice is exceedingly doubtful. In her terror and fright, and the darkness, her identification of any of the men would be very uncertain.

We learn that some persons residing in the neighborhood saw four men carrying a woman on Sunday night to the locality mentioned. Can this be so? Is it possible this would be observed and the persons seeing it made no alarm or endeavor to ascertain what was going on? We can scarcely believe it, yet such is our information. No further arrests have been made, and the parties arrested on Monday are still in the lock-up awaiting a hearing.

Loafers.

Of the many nuisances the more respectable portion of the community in all cities are necessarily compelled to endure, the most detestable, abominable and annoying, are the loafers. There are several different classes of loafers, all of them destined to bore somebody. The first is the bar-room loafer, intended we suppose as a pest to the bar-keeper, but he occasionally gets beyond the purpose for which he was created, and bores the customer. Then we have the would-be-gentlemanly loafer, who is always in your office, counting-room, or work shop, just when you want to be alone. But the meanest of all is the street loafer, who may be found daily on the street corners, lounging on anything he can find to hold his lazy carcass, from ten o'clock in the morning until a late hour at night, with no object in view other than to pass the time away by insulting respectable people. We have noticed quite a number of these pests to the community at sundry places, each particular set having their particular place of congregating. The steps of the old Theatre, on Fifth street, are always full; day after day the same dirty, greasy set of stout, hearty looking young men may be seen there from "sunny morn till dewy eve," smoking cigars and chewing tobacco, spitting the juice over the pavement to be swept up by the dress of the first lady passing, who is fortunate if she escapes with nothing more than having her dress spoiled, for scarcely one out of ten are allowed to pass without hearing both vulgar and profane language, and indecent remarks, which, if not addressed directly to them, are spoken for their especial benefit. On the stone wall on Federal street, Allegheny City, between General Robinson's and the bridge, is another rendezvous for this class of persons. How they live, or what they live for, is more than we are able to tell, and if we could ascertain the fact by experience, we sincerely hope Providence in his goodness will not let us live to make the discovery. Many of them are well dressed, and look as if they might have had respectable parents, but their conduct is disgraceful to their parents as well as to themselves, and an abomination in the sight of all honest men. If there is no way of abating this nuisance, we will have to endure it, but if there is any way under heaven to put a stop to it, it should be done at once. Those mentioned are not the only loafing places that have become a nuisance to the community at large, but for the want of time, we cannot speak of the others at present. However they are all, both loafers and loafing places, well known to the police, and measures to break up one will be applicable to all.

Killed on the Railroad.

The York Pennsylvanian of Saturday gives the following account of a shocking accident:

As the evening 4 o'clock train of cars was running from York to Wrightsville, last Tuesday, Charles Smith, a boy in his thirteenth year, and son of Henry Smith, (basket maker), of Freystown, was run over at Diehl's Lane, between one and two miles from this place. He was brought in an unconscious condition to this place, and laid in one of the rooms in the warehouse belonging to the railroad company, where he was watched over. Medical men were sent for, but nothing could be done. Both his legs were cut off below the knees, and the bones protruded from the horrid wounds. One of the arms was cut off, and the other was hanging by the skin only. There was also a deep gash on the head; and another heart sickening sight was that of the entrails being out near the abdomen. The boy lay in this unconscious position nearly four hours after the occurrence of the dreadful accident before death came to his relief. He died soon after he was removed to his home. The only account we have as to how this sad affair occurred, has been given by the persons who run the train; and their statement is that he was lying asleep on the track, between the rails, and that he was not seen in time to check the speed. The noise of the cars woke him up partially, when he unfortunately so changed his position that the cow catcher caught him and threw him across the track. Had he remained in his original posture it is believed the entire train would have run over him and left him uninjured. We are still puzzled to know how the cow catcher got over him; but it is probable that his entrails were pressed out by it.

Scene in an Alderman's Office.

Location, Grant street; parties, Sanders vs. Keefe; action for debt; amount, ten dollars. Counsel for defendant, Gen. Pierson and J. W. Taylor; for defendant, Alderman Lindsay. Plaintiff claimed having rented a house from defendant for twenty-five dollars per month, payable in advance; paid ten dollars down, with the understanding that the remainder was to be paid upon the delivery of the key; subsequently a "cow-catcher" lease was prepared, which plaintiff refused to sign; demanded his ten dollars back; demand refused; hence the suit. Defence: no lease prepared other than that agreed upon at the time the money was paid.

T. M. Little, sworn for plaintiff—Saw lease in the hands of defendant.

Alderman Lindsay, sworn for defendant—Was agent in this matter; there was no lease penned.

[Some hard words between witnesses, insinuations of false swearing, &c.]

Mr. Little—I ask protection against the blackguardism of this man.

[Further angry words.]

[Further angry words.]

Mr. Little—Are you, Alderman Nicholson, of the Second ward, trying this case, or Alderman Lindsay, of the Sixth ward?

Alderman N.—I am trying this case. The witness shall have protection. I will allow no further interruption in the case.

Alderman L.—I will endeavor to treat your Honor with respect.

Alderman N.—By the Lord, you shall treat us with respect. Mr. Keefe (defendant) you have taken bad advice in this matter. Judgment for plaintiff.

Death of the "Oldest Inhabitant."

The Titusville Herald says: Mr. William Kerr, the oldest resident in Oil Creek township, died on Friday last at the residence of his nephew, in Bloomfield, at the age of ninety years. Mr. Kerr came to this country in 1794, when the entire region west of the Susquehanna was comprised in Westmoreland county. He located about two miles from what is now Titusville, and reared a family of whom he was the last remaining survivor. He served as a soldier in the war of 1812, and was for a period of six months under the command of General Harrison at Fort Meigs. He was employed in the construction of the State road from Anderson Creek to Meadville. Mr. Kerr was an exemplary and highly respected citizen. He retired from active business life many years since, and having lost his entire family, and sinking under the infirmities of extreme age, he was taken to the residence of his nephew in Bloomfield township, about two years ago, where he passed his declining days.

Wants to Change His Base.

The Cadiz, O., Republican says: A lawyer named Little, one of the attorneys of Fogler, who was executed for murder at Washington, Pennsylvania, some time since, recently applied for permission to practice in the Court of in Jefferson county, in this State, and was refused because, in his confession, Fogler charged him with unprofessional conduct while defending him. Judge McIlvane appointed a commission to inquire into the facts, the testimony to be reported at the next term of Court.

Tarentum Camp Meeting.—The Committee of the Board of Trustees of the Tarentum camp meeting ground will meet lot holders and others desiring to obtain tent room on the grounds to-morrow (Thursday) morning. Those who propose being present at the meeting can leave for Tarentum on the 6:30 o'clock train in the morning. The camp meeting will commence on the 8th of August, and from present indications will be one of the largest ever held.

A Man by the name of Hoff was killed by the Erie Express train, going west on Thursday night last, a short distance above Whetham station. The particulars of the accident are not known. It is supposed that he was intoxicated at the time.

Wm. Carter, watchman in the Erie and Pittsburgh railroad shops, fell a distance of thirty feet from the roof of the building, on Monday night last and was seriously injured.

A Baptist congregation is to be organized in Titusville.

Improvement of the Rivers.

Pursuant to call a meeting of citizens interested in the movement for the improvement of the Western Rivers was held at the Board of Trade Rooms yesterday forenoon. Mr. J. A. Caldwell, was called to the Chair, and Mr. J. K. Harlett designated as Secretary. After remarks by the Chairman, A. M. Bryson, and J. F. Dravo, Committees on Finance and Statistics were appointed, as follows:

Finance—David Smith, John J. Dravo and Capt. Bell Hoover.

Statistics—Capt. C. W. Batchelor, R. W. Burke, and Capt. R. C. Gray.

After a resolution of thanks to Mr. Bryson, for his effort in the enterprise, the meeting adjourned.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞SECOND BANKERS' AND MERCHANTS' GRAND PRESENTATION ENTERTAINMENT will most positively take place at IRVIN HALL, on the evening of July 24th, 1867. The largest, greatest and most successful enterprise ever inaugurated in the world. A Present with every ticket.

The First Grand Concert was given on July 4th. It was a grand success. The mammoth Hall was filled with the elite of the city. The audience appointed a committee of nine of the leading Bankers and Merchants, to examine the corresponding numbers to the tickets and the Register Book, to see that all is correct before making the grand distribution of prizes at the last Concert, on the 24th of July.

A gift with every ticket. The Grand Distribution of presents will be conducted on the Mutual Benefit principle. A pro-rata Distribution of Profits to Ticket holders. Capital, $1,287,148. Tickets, $1 each. A present with every ticket.

A reference to the number of presents and the general plan of distribution, given below, will convince the most skeptical of the great advantages which will accrue to all who participate in the enterprise; and the commercial and financial standing of the company, and the managers and bankers thereof, will, they hope, prove a sufficient guarantee of the fairness and impartiality with which everything in connection with it will be conducted, and that the interests of ticket holders will be most scrupulously watched over and guarded. In fact it is the desire of the managers to conduct every transaction for the mutual benefit of whoever shall purchase a ticket, and scrupulously to avoid any and everything which could in the slightest degree diminish the profits which are likely to accrue to all who invest. List of Presents: Cash—One cash present at $75,000; one cash present at $40,000, one cash present at $15,000, two cash presents at $10,000; three cash presents at $5,000, four cash presents at $3,000; five cash presents at $[illegible]; eight cash presents at $1,000; fourteen cash presents at $500; twenty cash presents at $300; twenty five cash presents at $200; forty cash presents at $100; seventy-five cash presents at $50; one hundred and forty cash presents at $25; one hundred and fifty cash presents at $20; one hundred and seventy five cash presents at $10; two hundred cash present at $5—864 cash presents, amounting to $250,000. —The fact that some of the National banks propose to borrow money at 4 per cent., by paying this interest to depositors, attracts attention, as hitherto it has been the practice for banks to loan money and not to borrow it. The Chicago Times, in commenting upon this practice, says:

"This matter of paying interests on deposits is one of the loose customs into which some of our banks are falling, and the public have an interest in correcting such a custom, which endangers the safety of the banks and plunges them into wild speculation with the money of which they are made custodians. The intimation of the Herald that it is a custom into which other banks will be forced to fall, shows the dangerous tendencies of countenancing such a custom. It cannot be popular with those who think the matter over thoroughly, unless for a mere trifling consideration, they will lend their money to an association of stock, gold or produce gamblers, instead of depositing it with safe and legitimate institutions."

The movement made by the New York Park Bank, limiting the payment of interest on deposits to 3 per cent., it is stated, will probably be followed by the other banks of that city, and we may soon expect to see the paying of interest on deposits entirely discontinued. At no distant day, instead of the payment of interest inviting deposits, will, as an evidence of insecurity, have the effect of driving the depositors away.

—The immediate cause of the trouble suddenly sprung upon the stock market of New York on Friday was, as we have heretofore stated, a rumor of National bank suspensions, particularly that of a large institution on Broadway. The Financial Chronicle says the story was speedily contradicted. It took its origin from the fact that the president of the bank is said to be a special partner in one of the dry goods firms reported at present in difficulties. The bank itself, however, is conservative and strong.

The New York Journal of Commerce of the 11th says: Not a few of our readers will be pleased to know that all the members comprising the well-known firm of Henrys, Smith & Townsend have been released from personal liability by all of their creditors. The estate, we learn, has already paid six dividends of ten per cent. each, which will be further continued as fast as the assets can be realized."

—Every right thinking man, having regard for the credit and reputation of the country, will be glad to learn that the committee appointed by Secretary McCulloch to count the funds in the vaults of the Treasury Department, have completed their investigations, and the result of the count shows a few dollars in the Treasury over the amount that the books call for. The amount of national funds which has passed through the Treasury hands since March, 1861, is about $14,500,000,000.00. The committee state in their report to the Secretary: "We found the money on hand at the close of the fiscal year, ending on the 30th of June last, to agree in every particular with the balance shown on the accounts. The cash at that time was $3,850,670 17."

—That there are a very great number of houses and stores "to let" in this city at the present time is easily seen by any one who takes the trouble to look around, and the same we learn, is true in most of the large cities; yet neither here nor elsewhere, do we hear that the places which are vacant, and many of which have remained vacant for months, are being offered at such reduced rates as would be befitting the present times. Agents and owners hold on to the high prices of last year, though there is no prospect of their being realized for this year, at all events. It would seem to be not unwise, at least for those who have unoccupied houses on their hands, to abate somewhat in their pretensions.—Phila. Ledger.

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

Office of the Pittsburgh Gazette,
Tuesday, July 16, 1867.

CATTLE.

The supply of cattle was more than double that of last week, reaching about 800 head, but the market, notwithstanding, was a good one, and there were none left over unsold. There were but comparatively few good cattle in market, and, as a consequence, the best retailing grades sold readily at full prices, while common and inferior, if anything, ruled a fraction lower; the former sold at from 8@8½c, and the latter at 4½@6c—stockers may be quoted at from 5@6c. There were but few eastern buyers in attendance, but the butchers, not being able to get what they wanted last week, owing to the very meagre supply, bought pretty freely this week, and about all the Cattle offered suitable for slaughtering were picked up by this class of buyers, and, that, too, at full prices.

SHEEP.

The supply of Sheep and Lambs was large this week and considerably in excess of the demand, and the market was a very hard one for the drovers. Compared with last week, prices have still further declined, the best retailing Sheep selling at from 5@5¼ and good at 4@4½. E. Whittlesey sold "Boss" Ackley a small bunch of extra Western Reserve Sheep, averaging 101 pounds, at 5½. Lambs, also, were plenty and dull, and, if anything, a shade lower, ranging from $2@4 per head—John H. Glass sold a small lot of extra at $4—an extreme price, and cannot be taken as a criterion of the market.

HOGS

The demand for this class of stock continues very light, though the market is steady, and prices are well maintained, ranging from 7@7¼, in a retail way, for fair to prime heavy averages.

REPORTED SALES OF CATTLE.

Glass & Lafferty sold 37 head for Holmes & Pfiffer, at 6@7,10; 41 head cows and steers for Charles French, at 6; 23 head steers, stags and cows for Tatum, at 5½@6¼, and 10 head common cows at 5. E. Whittlesey sold 14 head of good Western Reserve Cattle, averaging 1250, at 7¾. S. Hudson sold John Kerwin 35 head of big, fat, rough Green Co. (Penna.) Cattle at 7¼—and John after working hard himself and assisted by several of his friends, succeeded in retailing them out again, though he suffered a small loss in the end. R. M. Funk sold Rothchilds & Byers 18 head of good Ohio cattle at 7½. McAllister sold McGarvey 26 head of fairish cattle at 6.90. Shomaker sold Marks & Traurman a car load of fairish Ohio cattle at 6,96. Rotchilds & Byer sold 68 head at 7¼@8¼. M. Verner 40 head at 4½@7. Katz & Bro. 22 head at 5@6. Marks & Traurman 108 head at 5½@8½. Myers & Needy 16 head to A. Ackley; 18 head to Greenwald & Kahn, and retailed 41 head at 6@8¼. Greenwald & Kahn retailead 88 head; Kraus & Haas 37; L. Rothchilds 21—did not get prices.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

Office of the Pittsburgh Gazette,
Tuesday, July 16, 1867.

The general markets are firm, and with a steady demand for most of the leading commodities, prices are still on the ascending scale. Oats and Sugar Cured Hams are among the most prominent articles on the advance, though generally speaking the tendency is upward, but how long it will continue thus it is hard to determine, and operators generally are disposed to operate cautiously.

GRAIN—No Wheat offering, and the same is true of Barley. There is an effort being made to establish a price for new crop Barley, but thus far without success. Oats firm, considerably excited and higher. We can report a sale of 300 bush, at depot, at 80c, though later in the day it is said that there were offers to buy at 85c; we are cognizant of a small sale in store at 87c. Corn is firm but unchanged; sale of 5 cars prime Yellow at 95c. No movement in Rye—nominal price, $1.25.

FLOUR—Is firm, with a steady demand and regular sales, and while prices are well maintained, they have undergone no quotable change. We continue to quote at $11,50@12.50 for Spring Wheat; $13@14 for Winter Wheat, and $16@17c for fancy brands. We can report sales of new Tennessee Flour, ground from new Tennessee White Wheat, at $16. Rye Flour is quiet and unchanged.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is firm but unchanged. There is a steady demand for Shoulders and Hams, and we quote the former at 11¼@11½c, and the latter at 21½@22c. Sides quiet and unchanged. Lard, 13@13½c. Dried Beef at 24@25c. Mess Pork dull, though held at an advance.

MILL FEED—Is in fair demand, and in limited supply. Sales of 10 tons Bran at $1,55@1,60, and 10 tons Middlings at $2,25.

OIL—Lard Oil is quoted firm and higher—85c for No. 2, and $1,07 for No. 1.

POTATOES—New Potatoes scarce and firm at $4,25@4,50 per bbl. Old Potatoes dull at $1 per bush.

EGGS—Steady, with a demand fully up to the supply; sales reported at 21@22c.

BUTTER—Continues dull but nominally unchanged—15@17c for fresh packed.

GREEN APPLES—Scarce and in demand—may be quoted at $4@6 per bbl, according to quality.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

Office of the Pittsburgh Gazette,
Tuesday, July 16, 1866.

CRUDE—There was again considerable excitement in the crude oil market to-day, and spot oil has still further advanced. Sale of 1500 bbls spot at 12½; 550 to be delivered within ten days, at 11; 2000 for October and November, on private terms; 500 spot at 11; 1000 to be delivered in October and November, at 9½; and 1100 on spot, at 12. We heard of offers to sell late in the day at 12½, on spot; and from now until December 1st, buyer's option, at 12½. The fact that there is no spot oil except what is held in tank, together with but little prospect of a rise in the river within the next sixty days, has a tendency to stiffen the market, and these parties who have oil in tank, generally, are men of means, and they seem determined not to sell until they can realize a handsome profit, and they are prepared to hold until that time comes, let it be soon or late.

REFINED—The transactions in bonded oil were remarkably light to-day, but the market, nevertheless, continues firm, and prices, although unchanged, are maintained. It is asserted that this market is firmer and more excited than the eastern markets, and this is doubtless true; but it is also true that the "backbone" exhibited here will certainly have a corresponding influence there; and while exporters may not be willing to pay the prices now prevailing, they may be compelled to pay a still further advance. This has occurred in time past, and there is no reason why it should not occur again. That the demand is increasing each successive year is generally conceded, and with no corresponding increase in the production, there is no reason why prices should not be better. Another fact to be taken into consideration is the probability that before another half year rolls around petroleum will have been introduced on steam vessels and locomotives as fuel in place of coal, the feasibility of this having already been demonstrated, and that this will largely increase the demand is patent to any one who has given the subject any attention; and as a matter of course, if the demand is increased, the article will be enhanced in value. We have but a single sale reported, one thousand barrels for this month, buyer's option, at 32½, delivered in Philadelphia. There was some inquiry for August, and we heard of offers to buy at 30@30¼, and offers to sell at 31.

Cincinnati Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

Cincinnati, July 16.—Flour and Wheat in light supply, and the market is steady; a lot of red Wheat was sold at $2,40, to arrive this week. Corn is dull, and was offered at 77c at the close for No 1 in bulk, and prime white is held at 90c for sacked, but there is not much demand for any kind. Oats are scarce and firmer, No 1 selling at 82c in bulk. Rye is unchanged and steady. Cotton is unchanged, and holders are firm at 23c for middling, but the demand is light. Whisky is steady at $2.30 in bond. Mess Pork is quiet at $23, with sales of 300 barrels. There is an active demand for Bulk Meats with sales of 300,000 pounds, at 10c for shoulders and 12c for sides. Gold closed at 139, buying, and 140, selling. Exchange is dull, buying at par and selling at 1-10 per cent. premium. The money market continues close at 8@8½ per cent.

Future Grain Prices.

Thousands of men would give a nice little sum of money to any one who could decide for them wisely the probabilities of prices of grain for the coming fall and winter. But as no one can do it safely for himself, no one can do it for others. Supposing the incoming harvest should realize all that is now hoped for it, an abundance of food follows for man and beast, it is not certain that prices will rule low, because there will be a strong disposition among farmers to retain their surplus in the remembrance of the high prices that have prevailed.

On the other hand there exists no good ground for believing that a large export demand will be felt in this country during the year to come. The accounts of crops in Europe are unusually favorable, and though England never produces its food supply, several neighboring nations nearer than our own are ready to contribute to her wants. We can only hope therefore for an export demand at moderate prices, such as may arise in a fair competition with other countries producing a surplus of food.—Chicago Com. Express.

RIVER NEWS.

On Saturday morning the sale of the Havana and Emma Floyd, stock of the Nashville Packet Company, took place on the Cincinnati wharf. The bidding was lively at low rates, but culminated in Capt. James S. Wise becoming the purchaser of both, at $6,600 and $6,200. It is understood that Capt. W. will refit and renovate them for the fall trade to Nashville.

During the storm Wednesday evening, says the Dubuque Times of Friday, a fearful thunderbolt shot from the heavens and struck the river, a few rods from the shore, on this side and midway between the Muscatine and ferry boat, both of which were lying at the levee. It was as large around as a man's body, and the report shook the city like an earthquake.

It is said that Chicago parties contemplate running, next year, a line of boats from Sioux City to Benton, in connection with the railroad which will be completely across the State of Iowa, and which will be an arter of Chicago's Commerce.

The Choteau family, of St. Louis, must be numerous. Last week they passed up the Mississippi river on their annual summer trip, filling a whole steamboat, and are now quartered in St. Paul, occupying a hotel by themselves.

Captain H. A. Jones, J. W. Gaff, D. Gibson, J. C. Dowly and M. Rodney, left Cincinnati for St. Louis Saturday evening, to be present at the sale of the Atlantic Steamship Company, which was to have taken place on Monday.

It is not improbable that the sternwheeler America will enter the Cincinnati and Madison trade.

The Cincinnati Gazette, of Monday, says: The Leonidas, which left this port for New Orleans Saturday evening, was aground on Rising Sun bar yesterday morning. She was on the upper bar, and was likely to remain for a few hours. On the lower bar there is now aground a stone boat and pilots are compelled to keep well up in making the channel.

The following suggestions, from the Louisville Courier, would prove highly satisfactory to all of our steamboats, if made a reality:

The merchants and business men of Louisville, as well as the steamboatmen, all desire the speedy enlargement of the Louisville and Portland canal. It has been more than hinted that the citizens of Louisville are inimical to the contemplated enlargement, or rather the completion of the work. The interests of this city and section will be far better answered by free and unrestricted commerce than by the expense and delay of having their freights hauled three miles on drays or vans to get around the falls. They not only wants the canal locks widened, but basins made so as to enable a Cincinnati boat to go right by without stopping. At the same time the large Louisville boat can come to the city wharf.

Captain Joseph Ohlman, of the J. H. Trover, came down on the Benton most of the way to St. Louis, and concluded his trip by rail. We give his statement of the misfortune which occurred to that boat:

"The morning we got within a distance of thirty-five miles below Muscleshell the river was very high. There has been a rise of eight feet from the Muscleshell, and the current was so strong that I couldn't make the point. I landed under the point and put out my line, intending to pull her round the point. Before I had landed, somebody hollered up to me that the doctor was broke. Of course every boatman will know that the boilers could not be supplied then, and the fires had to be put out. Having no steam, and finding the river falling, I dropped the boat a hundred yards down, when she stopped. I had all the fire-wood thrown overboard to lighten her out, but the river fell so fast that nothing could be done. Next morning she was dry. I then debated as to the best course to adopt. There was no probability of a rise sufficient to take her off this year. The spring rise of next year might not be great enough to take her off, and in the meantime, her seams would open and the hull become like a seive, and she would be subject to the depredations of the Indians. After due consideration of the subject, in all its bearings, I determined on the course which I pursued. I bargained with the Ida Stockdale to take the Trover's cargo to its destination, Benton, and she agreed, upon her return, to take on her machinery, and everything portable, and bring it to the port of St. Louis. I had everything made loose and ready for her to take on. The Octavia brought down the cabin furniture some days ago. As to a letter said to have been received by Mayor Trover, of Cairo, saying that 'the undertaking will cost eight or ten thousand dollars more than the freight-bills will reimburse' it is a d—d lie."

The St. Louis Democrat adds to the above that the Trover had 260 tons at 7½c per pound, and that the Ida Stockdale gets three cents per pound. We think this makes the Trover's share $18,000, and that of the Stockdale $12,000. It looks as if, after wages are paid, and all other expenses liquidated, and insurance, which we believe is $15,000, recovered, there should accrue to the owners of the Trover a profit of the handsome kind.

The Dubuque Herald, of Friday last, contains the following item:

"Charley Merry is commencing operations to fit up ten new elevator barges, after the model of the one already referred to in our columns, and proved on actual experiment to be a success. Each barge is to contain an elevator, operated by a steam engine. This will be the inauguration of a new era in grain transportation upon the river.

The Memphis Avalanche understands that the Cincinnati and Louisville Mail Company contemplate putting the Richmond, Lytle and America in the Memphis and New Orleans trade while the Ohio remains low. Better not. St. Louis will shortly control about all the river commerce of the great river. Arrangements will shortly be completed at this fountain head, by which all needful commodation will be furnished in the steamboat line to all shippers and travelers on the Lower Mississippi.—St. Louis Democrat.

MEDICAL.

CONSUMPTION!

It would take a man a lifetime to read the treatises that have been written upon this important subject, and if a sick man were to attempt it he would make himself worse by the reading, and die before he got half through. The symptoms of the disease are, hacking cough, expectoration of matter or pus, pain in one or both lungs, chilliness, burning in the palms of the hands and soles of the feet, exhausting day or night sweats, hectic fever, wasting of flesh or marasmus, sometimes expectoration of blood. These are the usual outward symptoms, apparent not only to the observing physician, but to the patient's friends. There are, however, more important symptoms than these, which are only made manifest by auscultation and percussion, terms which mean, in a medical sense, thumping and listening, and they are employed outwardly in order to ascertain what is going on inside of the cavity of the chest. The signs or symptoms elicited in this way are almost surely demonstrate the true and exact condition of the respiratory organs. A perfect auscultator can not fail in ascertaining whether the Lungs are acting naturally or not. Hence it is the best method of examining the lungs. Their actual condition once discovered, the appropriate treatment is more rapidly arrived at, and every diseased part more completely under the influence of appropriate remedies. We have long been of the opinion that consumption or decay, or wasting of the bodily strength, was dependent on a depraved state of the blood, which carries, in its course, tuberculous matter, and deposits it in the lungs, or elsewhere in the body, just as calculi or stone is deposited in the bladder, a small particle of which attracts other particles, until it becomes of such offense to the natural functions as to bring on inflammatory action, which action, if it could, would carry it out of the system, and which could have been easily done in the beginning of such disease. Dr. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP is a complete and perfect cure in the forming stage of lung disease. It acts on the very principle we have stated above, by enabling the securing or carrying off organs to do a double share of work. Waste and repair are easily comprehended, and if the worn out material be carried off, and the renewing material of a proper character, there must be health and ease, the contrary of sickness and dis-ease. In many cases of consumption which have become settled, Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup fails to cure, although it will do good in nearly all. He prepares a medicine called LUNG CURE or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE, which is a great tonic, and strengthens and restores the parts to be renewed, while it dissolves and carries out from the body those particles of worn out or extraneous matter, which only tend to clog or destroy it, by hindering the renewing material being deposited in proper place.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, RESULTING FROM PLEURISY, CURED.

Statement of George Ford, carpenter, of No. 16 Sampson street, Allegheny City:

I took a violent attack of pleurisy, in May, 1866, which left me with a cough lasting all summer, wearing away my strength and gradually undermining my health. During this attack of pleurisy I had several physicians of the highest reputation in the city. After I had partially recovered from the pleurisy, I was advised to go into the country, which I did, and when there a called in a doctor, who told me my left lung was affected, and that if something were not done soon I would die of CONSUMPTION. I lingered on from this time until about the middle of June, my cough and lung disease gradually growing worse, and I weaker every day, and almost despairing of ever getting well. In this state of despondency, and knowing the general belief of the incurability of Consumption, and having heard of cures made by DR. KEYSER, and seeing his advertisement in the newspapers, I was induced in October last to call on the Doctor at his office, 120 Penn street, and had him examine my lungs with his "LUNG SOUND." He told me the upper lobe of my left lung was very much diseased, but he thought with great care and the perseverance in the use of his medicine, I would get well. At the time I called on Dr. Keyser my pulse was over one hundred and thirty beats in a minute, and I was generally prostrated, and had to cough night and day. I commenced the Doctor's treatment in October, with a feeble, broken constitution, and continued it faithfully until the present time. The Doctor's medicines helped me from the very start, and I could gradually feel myself getting stronger, and my cough and expectoration lessening. I have gained greatly in flesh, and consider myself well; all the rattling of my lung has ceased, and my general health is in every way good. All my relatives and friends know of the advanced stage of my disease and my extraordinary recovery. One of the medicines given me by Dr. Keyser was a medicine called LUNG CURE, which I took in connection with the other treatment.

GEORGE FORD

Pittsburgh, March 30, 1867.

ANOTHER CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

STATEMENT OF JOHN G. WIGHAM, OF TURTLE CREEK, ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

I was discharged from the United States army January, 1866, on account of a wound in the head, from a shell, and a disease which the army physicians pronounced CONSUMPTION. I had a terrible cough and fell away in strength and flesh and was unable to do anything. Shortly after my return from the army, I made application to a physician of my neighborhood and, afterwards, to another in Pittsburgh of high reputation, whose remedies I used faithfully for five months, without any benefit whatever, but rather grew worse, and wasted in flesh and strength every day. In August, 1866, my mother took me to DOCTOR KEYSER, of 120 Penn street, whose skill in such cases like mine had been highly spoken of and put myself under his treatment. He soon examined my lungs very carefully with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that my left lung was badly diseased at the upper part, but if I was careful he thought he could cure me by following his directions closely, which I did from that day to this. I gradually improved under Dr. Keyser's medicines from the first week I commenced to take them, and my general health has improved, and my chest, where it was sunken away, and where it pained me, has become full and strong and free from pain. I can now do a full day's work, and take great pleasure in giving my testimony in favor of Dr. Keyser's treatment and medicines.

JOHN G. WIGHAM,
Turtle Creek.

Pittsburgh, April 11th, 1867.

A case of five years' standing cured by DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP:

Dr. Keyser:—My wife has been afflicted with a cough and difficulty of breathing for five or six years, which, for several years back, had gradually increased in violence. The complaint has been hereditary, and she had been treated by several physicians without any relief. In this state of her case I procured some of your PECTORAL COUGH SYRUP. I bought the first time a fifty cent bottle, which relieved her very much; I then called and got a dollar bottle, which cured her entirely, and she has now no trace of the former disease, except weakness. I would also state that I used the medicine myself to a cold and cough. The medicine cured me by taking one dose. I express my entire satisfaction with the medicine, and you are at liberty to publish this if you desire to do so.

WM. WILSON,
Alderman, Fifth Ward.

Our son, James Painter, some three years of age was afflicted with consumption of the lungs, for which he was discharged from the army. He was examined by four army physicians, who all agreed that he must die with the disease. We brought him to Dr. KEYSER, 140 Wood street, (now 120 Penn street,) who, after sounding his lungs, commenced to treat him, and cured him sound and well. He is now well and has been so for the past three years. Others afflicted in like manner can likewise be cured.
